IV. Appendices

APPENDIX A – TERMS OF REFERENCE

1. Background

i. The Government of India along with State and Local Governments is implementing several flagship Urban Missions for improving various aspects of urban development in Indian cities. An underlying goal of these initiatives is to make Indian cities more 'Liveable'. This will mean not only providing good quality core infrastructure and services, but also developing cities with ample opportunities for work, entertainment and cultural activities, improved social infrastructure and economic opportunity;

ii. In order to do this through a structured approach it is important to create a common minimum framework, which cities can use to assess their 'Liveability' and measure their progress over time. In this context, the Ministry of Urban Development has developed a set of 'Liveability Standards in Cities'. These will act as a guiding framework for cities to chart their pathway towards liveability and result in a systematic improvement in the quality of life of citizens in Indian cities. The 'Liveability Standards in Cities' document can be downloaded from http://smartcities.gov.in/content/innerpage/otherstoolkit.php;

iii. A total of 79 Liveability Standards are proposed across 15 different categories. The Ministry proposes to conduct an 'Annual Assessment of Liveability Standards in Cities' and develop a 'City Liveability Index'. This is an ambitious national project requiring yearly compilation of a large number of datasets across the various Liveability Standards;

iv. A total of 116 cities will be covered in Year 1 (list of cities for Year 1 is provided at Appendix D), and the coverage of cities may be extended in subsequent years. The following classification of cities will be used for the purpose of the study

Classification*		Population range
1	Small Towns	Less than 50,000 population
2	Medium Towns	Population ≥ 50,000 < 5 lakh
3	Large Towns	Population ≥ 5 lakh < 1 million

4	Metropolitan Cities	Population ≥ 1 million < 5 million
5	Megapolis	Population ≥ 5 million

 Based on the Classification given in the URDPFI guidelines, 2014*

v. Given the magnitude of data collection and field surveys required, the National Institute of Urban Affairs (an autonomous body under Ministry of Urban Development) wishes to engage the services of a reputed national/international agency/institution for Assessment of Liveability Standards (the 'Assignment') across all cities included in the study. This will cover all relevant data required by the NIUA for computing the 79 Liveability Standards. The data generated from the assignment will be used by the NIUA for calculating the City Liveability Index of cities on an annual basis;

vi. The contract will initially be valid for activities in Year 1 (as defined in Clause 7.5), and may be extended for a further period of 2 years upon successful completion of activities in Year 1, at the discretion of the NIUA;

vii. Remuneration paid in local currency pursuant to the rates submitted in Form Fin-2 shall be adjusted every 12 months (and, for the first time, with effect for the remuneration earned in the 13th calendar month after the date of the Contract) by applying the following formula:

$$R_i = R_0 \times (I_i / I_0)$$

Where R_i is the adjusted remuneration, R_0 is the remuneration payable on the basis of the rates set forth in Form Fin-2 for remuneration payable in local currency in the first year. Similarly, R_0 and will be considered as the remuneration for the second year for calculation of the adjusted remuneration for the third year. I_i is the CPI (Urban) for Delhi as published by the Director General / Central Statistical Office, Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation, Government of India, for the month in which the adjustment is to have effect and I_0 is the CPI (Urban) for Delhi as published by the authority named above for the month of the date of the contract.

Introduction	2.1 The Client named in the Data Sheet intends to select a Consultant from those listed in the Letter of Invitation, in accordance with the method of selection specified in the Data Sheet. 2.2 The shortlisted Consultants are invited to submit a Technical Proposal and a Financial Proposal, or a Technical Proposal only, as specified in the Data Sheet, for consulting services required for the assignment named in the Data Sheet. The Proposal will be the basis for negotiating and ultimately signing the Contract with the selected Consultant. 2.3 The Consultants should familiarize themselves with the local conditions and take them into account in preparing their Proposals, including attending a pre-proposal conference if one is specified in the Data Sheet. Attending any such pre-proposal conference is optional and is at the Consultants’ expense.

	2.4 The Client will timely provide, at no cost to the Consultants, the inputs, relevant project data, and reports required for the preparation of the Consultant’s Proposal as specified in the Data Sheet.
3. Conflict of Interest	3.1 The Consultant is required to provide professional, objective, and impartial advice, at all times holding the Client’s interests paramount, strictly avoiding conflicts with other assignments or its own corporate interests, and acting without any consideration for future work. 3.2 The Consultant has an obligation to disclose to the Client any situation of actual or potential conflict that impacts its capacity to serve the best interest of its Client. Failure to disclose such situations may lead to the disqualification of the Consultant or the termination of its Contract and/or sanctions by the Bank. 3.2.1 Without limitation on the generality of the foregoing, the Consultant shall not be hired under the circumstances set forth below:
a. Conflicting activities	(i) Conflict between consulting activities and procurement of goods, works or non-consulting services: a firm that has been engaged by the Client to provide goods, works, or non-consulting services for a project, or any of its Affiliates, shall be disqualified from providing consulting services resulting from or directly related to those goods, works, or non-consulting services. Conversely, a firm hired to provide consulting services for the preparation or implementation of a project, or any of its Affiliates, shall be disqualified from subsequently providing goods or works or non-consulting services resulting from or directly related to the consulting services for such preparation or implementation.
b. Conflicting assignments	(ii) Conflict among consulting assignments: a Consultant (including its Experts and Sub-consultants) or any of its Affiliates shall not be hired for any assignment that, by its nature, may be in conflict with another assignment of the Consultant for the same or for another Client.
c. Conflicting relationships	(iii) Relationship with the Client’s staff: a Consultant (including its Experts and Sub-consultants) that has a close business or family relationship with a professional staff of the Borrower (or of the Client, or of implementing agency, or of a recipient of a part of the Bank’s financing) who are directly or indirectly involved in any part of (i) the preparation of the Terms of Reference for the assignment, (ii) the selection process for the Contract, or (iii) the supervision of the Contract, may not be awarded a Contract, unless the conflict stemming from this relationship has been resolved in a manner acceptable to the Bank throughout the selection process and the execution of the Contract.

4. Unfair Competitive Advantage	4.1 Fairness and transparency in the selection process require that the Consultants or their Affiliates competing for a specific assignment do not derive a competitive advantage from having provided consulting services related to the assignment in question. To that end, the Client shall indicate in the Data Sheet and make available to all shortlisted Consultants together with this RFP all information that would in that respect give such Consultant any unfair competitive advantage over competing Consultants.
5. Corrupt and Fraudulent Practices	5.1 The Bank requires compliance with its policy in regard to corrupt and fraudulent practices as set forth in Section 6. 5.2 In further pursuance of this policy, Consultant shall permit and shall cause its agents, Experts, Sub-consultants, sub-contractors, services providers, or suppliers to permit the Bank to inspect all accounts, records, and other documents relating to the submission of the Proposal and contract performance (in case of an award), and to have them audited by auditors appointed by the Bank.
6. Eligibility	6.1 The Bank permits consultants (individuals and firms, including Joint Ventures and their individual members) from all countries to offer consulting services for Bank-financed projects. 6.2 Furthermore, it is the Consultant's responsibility to ensure that its Experts, joint venture members, Sub-consultants, agents (declared or not), sub-contractors, service providers, suppliers and/or their employees meet the eligibility requirements as established by the Bank in the Applicable Guidelines. 6.3 As an exception to the foregoing Clauses 6.1 and 6.2 above:
a. Sanctions	6.3.1 A firm or an individual sanctioned by the Bank in accordance with the above Clause 5.1 or in accordance with "Anti-Corruption Guidelines" shall be ineligible to be awarded a Bank-financed contract, or to benefit from a Bank-financed contract, financially or otherwise, during such period of time as the Bank shall determine. The list of debarred firms and individuals is available at the electronic address specified in the Data Sheet.
b. Prohibitions	6.3.2 Firms and individuals of a country or goods manufactured in a country may be ineligible if so indicated in Section 5 (Eligible Countries) and:

	(a) as a matter of law or official regulations, the Borrower's country prohibits commercial relations with that country, provided that the Bank is satisfied that such exclusion does not preclude effective competition for the provision of Services required; or (b) by an act of compliance with a decision of the United Nations Security Council taken under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations, the Borrower's Country prohibits any import of goods from that country or any payments to any country, person, or entity in that country.
c. Restrictions for Government-owned Enterprises	6.3.3 Government-owned enterprises or institutions in the Borrower's country shall be eligible only if they can establish that they (i) are legally and financially autonomous, (ii) operate under commercial law, and (iii) that they are not dependent agencies of the Client To establish eligibility, the government-owned enterprise or institution should provide all relevant documents (including its charter) sufficient to demonstrate that it is a legal entity separate from the government; it does not currently receive any substantial subsidies or budget support; it is not obligated to pass on its surplus to the government; it can acquire rights and liabilities, borrow funds, and can be liable for repayment of debts and be declared bankrupt; and it is not competing for a contract to be awarded by the government department or agency which, under the applicable laws or regulations, is its reporting or supervisory authority or has the ability to exercise influence or control over it.
d. Restrictions for public employees	6.3.4 Government officials and civil servants of the Borrower's country are not eligible to be included as Experts in the Consultant's Proposal unless such engagement does not conflict with any employment or other laws, regulations, or policies of the Borrower's country, and they (i) are on leave of absence without pay, or have resigned or retired; (ii) are not being hired by the same agency they were working for before going on leave of absence without pay, resigning, or retiring (in case of resignation or retirement, for a period of at least 6 (six) months, or the period established by statutory provisions applying to civil servants or government employees in the Borrower's country, whichever is longer. Experts who are employed by the government-owned universities, educational or research institutions are not eligible unless they have been full time employees of their institutions for a year or more prior to being included in Consultant's Proposal.; and (iii) their hiring would not create a conflict of interest.

B. Preparation of Proposals
7. General Considerations	7.1. In preparing the Proposal, the Consultant is expected to examine the RFP in detail. Material deficiencies in providing the information requested in the RFP may result in rejection of the Proposal.
8. Cost of Preparation of Proposal	8.1. The Consultant shall bear all costs associated with the preparation and submission of its Proposal, and the Client shall not be responsible or liable for those costs, regardless of the conduct or outcome of the selection process. The Client is not bound to accept any proposal, and reserves the right to annul the selection process at any time prior to Contract award, without thereby incurring any liability to the Consultant.
9. Language	9.1. The Proposal, as well as all correspondence and documents relating to the Proposal exchanged between the Consultant and the Client, shall be written in the language(s) specified in the Data Sheet.
10. Documents Comprising the Proposal	10.1. The Proposal shall comprise the documents and forms listed in the Data Sheet. 10.2. If specified in the Data Sheet, the Consultant shall include a statement of an undertaking of the Consultant to observe, in competing for and executing a contract, the Client country's laws against fraud and corruption (including bribery). 10.3. The Consultant shall furnish information on commissions, gratuities, and fees, if any, paid or to be paid to agents or any other party relating to this Proposal and, if awarded, Contract execution, as requested in the Financial Proposal submission form (Section 4).
11. Only One Proposal	11.1. The Consultant (including the individual members of any Joint Venture) shall submit only one Proposal, either in its own name or as part of a Joint Venture in another Proposal. If a Consultant, including any Joint Venture member, submits or participates in more than one proposal, all such proposals shall be disqualified and rejected. This does not, however, preclude a Sub-consultant, or the Consultant's staff from participating as Key Experts and Non-Key Experts in more than one Proposal when circumstances justify and if stated in the Data Sheet.

12. Proposal Validity	12.1. The Data Sheet indicates the period during which the Consultant's Proposal must remain valid after the Proposal submission deadline. 12.2. During this period, the Consultant shall maintain its original Proposal without any change, including the availability of the Key Experts, the proposed rates and the total price. 12.3. If it is established that any Key Expert nominated in the Consultant's Proposal was not available at the time of Proposal submission or was included in the Proposal without his/her confirmation, such Proposal shall be disqualified and rejected for further evaluation, and may be subject to sanctions in accordance with Clause 5 of this ITC.
a. Extension of Validity Period	12.4. The Client will make its best effort to complete the negotiations within the proposal's validity period. However, should the need arise, the Client may request, in writing, all Consultants who submitted Proposals prior to the submission deadline to extend the Proposals' validity. 12.5. If the Consultant agrees to extend the validity of its Proposal, it shall be done without any change in the original Proposal and with the confirmation of the availability of the Key Experts. 12.6. The Consultant has the right to refuse to extend the validity of its Proposal in which case such Proposal will not be further evaluated.
b. Substitution of Key Experts at Validity Extension	12.7. If any of the Key Experts become unavailable for the extended validity period, the Consultant shall provide a written adequate justification and evidence satisfactory to the Client together with the substitution request. In such case, a replacement Key Expert shall have equal or better qualifications and experience than those of the originally proposed Key Expert. The technical evaluation score, however, will remain to be based on the evaluation of the CV of the original Key Expert. 12.8. If the Consultant fails to provide a replacement Key Expert with equal or better qualifications, or if the provided reasons for the replacement or justification are unacceptable to the Client, such Proposal will be rejected with the prior Bank's no objection.
c. Sub-Contracting	12.9. The Consultant shall not subcontract the whole of the Services.
13. Clarification and	13.1. The Consultant may request a clarification of any part of the RFP during the period indicated in the Data Sheet before the Proposals' submission deadline. Any request for clarification must be sent in

Amendment of RFP	writing, or by standard electronic means, to the Client's address indicated in the Data Sheet. The Client will respond in writing, or by standard electronic means, and will send written copies of the response (including an explanation of the query but without identifying its source) to all shortlisted Consultants. Should the Client deem it necessary to amend the RFP as a result of a clarification, it shall do so following the procedure described below: 13.1.1. At any time before the proposal submission deadline, the Client may amend the RFP by issuing an amendment in writing or by standard electronic means. The amendment shall be sent to all shortlisted Consultants and will be binding on them. The shortlisted Consultants shall acknowledge receipt of all amendments in writing. 13.1.2. If the amendment is substantial, the Client may extend the proposal submission deadline to give the shortlisted Consultants reasonable time to take an amendment into account in their Proposals. 13.2. The Consultant may submit a modified Proposal or a modification to any part of it at any time prior to the proposal submission deadline. No modifications to the Technical or Financial Proposal shall be accepted after the deadline.
14. Preparation of Proposals – Specific Considerations	14.1. While preparing the Proposal, the Consultant must give particular attention to the following: 14.1.1. If a shortlisted Consultant considers that it may enhance its expertise for the assignment by associating with other consultants in the form of a Joint Venture or as Sub-consultants, it may do so with either (a) non-shortlisted Consultant(s), or (b) shortlisted Consultants if permitted in the Data Sheet. In all such cases a shortlisted Consultant must obtain the written approval of the Client prior to the submission of the Proposal. When associating with non-shortlisted firms in the form of a joint venture or a sub-consultancy, the shortlisted Consultant shall be a lead member. If shortlisted Consultants associate with each other, any of them can be a lead member. 14.1.2. The Client may indicate in the Data Sheet the estimated Key Experts' time input (expressed in person-month) or the Client's estimated total cost of the assignment, but not both. This estimate is indicative and the Proposal shall be based on the Consultant's own estimates for the same. 14.1.3. If stated in the Data Sheet, the Consultant shall include in its Proposal at least the same time input (in the same unit as indicated in the Data Sheet) of Key Experts, failing which the Financial Proposal will be adjusted for the purpose of comparison of proposals and decision for award in accordance with the procedure in the Data Sheet. 14.1.4. For assignments under the Fixed-Budget selection method, the estimated Key Experts' time input is not disclosed. Total available budget, with an indication whether it is inclusive or exclusive of taxes, is given in the Data Sheet, and the Financial Proposal shall not exceed this budget.

15. Technical Proposal Format and Content	15.1. The Technical Proposal shall not include any financial information. A Technical Proposal containing material financial information shall be declared non-responsive. 15.1.1 Consultant shall not propose alternative Key Experts. Only one CV shall be submitted for each Key Expert position. Failure to comply with this requirement will make the Proposal non-responsive. 15.2. Depending on the nature of the assignment, the Consultant is required to submit a Full Technical Proposal (FTP), or a Simplified Technical Proposal (STP) as indicated in the Data Sheet and using the Standard Forms provided in Section 3 of the RFP.
16. Financial Proposal	16.1. The Financial Proposal shall be prepared using the Standard Forms provided in Section 4 of the RFP. It shall list all costs associated with the assignment, including (a) remuneration for Key Experts and Non-Key Experts, (b) reimbursable expenses indicated in the Data Sheet.
a. Price Adjustment	16.2. For assignments with a duration exceeding 18 months, a price adjustment provision for foreign and/or local inflation for remuneration rates applies if so stated in the Data Sheet.
b. Taxes	16.3. The Consultant and its Sub-consultants and Experts are responsible for meeting all tax liabilities arising out of the Contract unless stated otherwise in the Data Sheet. Information on taxes in the Client's country is provided in the Data Sheet.
c. Currency of Proposal	16.4. The Consultant may express the price for its Services in the currency or currencies as stated in the Data Sheet. If indicated in the Data Sheet, the portion of the price representing local cost shall be stated in the national currency.
d. Currency of Payment	16.5. Payment under the Contract shall be made in the currency or currencies in which the payment is requested in the Proposal.

C. Submission, Opening and Evaluation

17. Submission, Sealing, and Marking of Proposals

17.1 The Consultant shall submit a signed and complete Proposal comprising the documents and forms in accordance with Clause 10 (Documents Comprising Proposal). The submission can be done by mail or by hand. If specified in the Data Sheet, the Consultant has the option of submitting its Proposals electronically.

17.2 An authorized representative of the Consultant shall sign the original submission letters in the required format for both the Technical Proposal and, if applicable, the Financial Proposal and shall initial all pages of both. The authorization shall be in the form of a written power of attorney attached to the Technical Proposal.

> 17.2.1 A Proposal submitted by a Joint Venture shall be signed by all members so as to be legally binding on all members, or by an authorized representative who has a written power of attorney signed by each member's authorized representative.

17.3 Any modifications, revisions, interlineations, erasures, or overwriting shall be valid only if they are signed or initialed by the person signing the Proposal.

17.4 The signed Proposal shall be marked "ORIGINAL", and its copies marked "COPY" as appropriate. The number of copies is indicated in the Data Sheet. All copies shall be made from the signed original. If there are discrepancies between the original and the copies, the original shall prevail.

17.5 The original and all the copies of the Technical Proposal shall be placed inside of a sealed envelope clearly marked "TECHNICAL PROPOSAL", "[Name of the Assignment]", reference number, name and address of the Consultant, and with a warning "DO NOT OPEN UNTIL [INSERT THE DATE AND THE TIME OF THE TECHNICAL PROPOSAL SUBMISSION DEADLINE]."

17.6 Similarly, the original Financial Proposal (if required for the applicable selection method) shall be placed inside of a sealed envelope clearly marked "FINANCIAL PROPOSAL" followed by the name of the assignment, reference number, name and address of the Consultant, and with a warning "DO NOT OPEN WITH THE TECHNICAL PROPOSAL."

17.7 The sealed envelopes containing the Technical and Financial Proposals shall be placed into one outer envelope and sealed. This outer envelope shall bear the submission address, RFP reference number, the name of the assignment, Consultant's name and the address, and shall be clearly marked "DO NOT OPEN BEFORE [insert the time and date of the submission deadline indicated in the Data Sheet]". 17.8 If the envelopes and packages with the Proposal are not sealed and marked as required, the Client will assume no responsibility for the misplacement, loss, or premature opening of the Proposal. 17.9 The Proposal or its modifications must be sent to the address indicated in the Data Sheet and received by the Client no later than the deadline indicated in the Data Sheet, or any extension to this deadline. Any Proposal or its modification received by the Client after the deadline shall be declared late and rejected, and promptly returned unopened.

18. Confidentiality	18.1 From the time the Proposals are opened to the time the Contract is awarded, the Consultant should not contact the Client on any matter related to its Technical and/or Financial Proposal. Information relating to the evaluation of Proposals and award recommendations shall not be disclosed to the Consultants who submitted the Proposals or to any other party not officially concerned with the process, until the publication of the Contract award information. 18.2 Any attempt by shortlisted Consultants or anyone on behalf of the Consultant to influence improperly the Client in the evaluation of the Proposals or Contract award decisions may result in the rejection of its Proposal, and may be subject to the application of prevailing Bank's sanctions procedures. 18.3 Notwithstanding the above provisions, from the time of the Proposals' opening to the time of Contract award publication, if a Consultant wishes to contact the Client or the Bank on any matter related to the selection process, it should do so only in writing.
19. Opening of Technical Proposals	19.1 The Client's evaluation committee shall conduct the opening of the Technical Proposals in the presence of the shortlisted Consultants' authorized representatives who choose to attend (in person, or online if this option is offered in the Data Sheet). The opening date, time and the address are stated in the Data Sheet. The envelopes with the Financial Proposal shall remain sealed and shall be securely stored with a reputable public auditor or independent authority until they are opened in accordance with Clause 23 of the ITC.

	19.2 At the opening of the Technical Proposals the following shall be read out: (i) the name and the country of the Consultant or, in case of a Joint Venture, the name of the Joint Venture, the name of the lead member and the names and the countries of all members; (ii) the presence or absence of a duly sealed envelope with the Financial Proposal; (iii) any modifications to the Proposal submitted prior to proposal submission deadline; and (iv) any other information deemed appropriate or as indicated in the Data Sheet.
20. Proposals Evaluation	20.1 Subject to provision of Clause 15.1 of the ITC, the evaluators of the Technical Proposals shall have no access to the Financial Proposals until the technical evaluation is concluded and the Bank issues its "no objection", if applicable. 20.2 The Consultant is not permitted to alter or modify its Proposal in any way after the proposal submission deadline except as permitted under Clause 12.7 of this ITC. While evaluating the Proposals, the Client will conduct the evaluation solely on the basis of the submitted Technical and Financial Proposals.
21. Evaluation of Technical Proposals	21.1 The Client's evaluation committee shall evaluate the Technical Proposals on the basis of their responsiveness to the Terms of Reference and the RFP, applying the evaluation criteria, sub-criteria, and point system specified in the Data Sheet. Each responsive Proposal will be given a technical score. A Proposal shall be rejected at this stage if it does not respond to important aspects of the RFP or if it fails to achieve the minimum technical score indicated in the Data Sheet.
22. Financial Proposals for QBS	22.1 Following the ranking of the Technical Proposals, when the selection is based on quality only (QBS), the top-ranked Consultant is invited to negotiate the Contract. 22.2 If Financial Proposals were invited together with the Technical Proposals, only the Financial Proposal of the technically top-ranked Consultant is opened by the Client's evaluation committee. All other Financial Proposals are returned unopened after the Contract negotiations are successfully concluded and the Contract is signed.
23. Public Opening of Financial Proposals (for QCBS, FBS, and LCS methods)	23.1 After the technical evaluation is completed and the Bank has issued its no objection (if applicable), the Client shall notify those Consultants whose Proposals were considered non-responsive to the RFP and TOR or did not meet the minimum qualifying technical score (and shall provide information relating to the Consultant's overall technical score, as well as scores obtained for each criterion and sub-criterion) that their Financial Proposals will be returned unopened after completing the selection process and Contract signing. The Client shall simultaneously notify in writing those Consultants that have achieved the minimum overall technical score and inform them of the date, time and location for the opening of the Financial Proposals. The opening date should allow the Consultants sufficient time to make arrangements for attending the opening. The Consultant's attendance at the opening of the Financial Proposals (in person, or online if such option is indicated in the Data Sheet) is optional and is at the Consultant's choice. 23.2 The Financial Proposals shall be opened by the Client's evaluation committee in the presence of the representatives of those Consultants whose proposals have passed the minimum technical score. At the opening, the names of the Consultants, and the overall technical scores, including the break-down by criterion, shall be read aloud. The Financial Proposals will then be inspected to confirm that they have remained sealed and unopened. These Financial Proposals shall be then opened, and the total prices read aloud and recorded. Copies of the record shall be sent to all Consultants who submitted Proposals and to the Bank.

24. Correction of Errors	24.1 Activities and items described in the Technical Proposal but not priced in the Financial Proposal, shall be assumed to be included in the prices of other activities or items, and no corrections are made to the Financial Proposal.
a. Time-Based Contracts	24.1.1 If a Time-Based contract form is included in the RFP, the Client's evaluation committee will (a) correct any computational or arithmetical errors, and (b) adjust the prices if they fail to reflect all inputs included for the respective activities or items in the Technical Proposal. In case of discrepancy between (i) a partial amount (sub-total) and the total amount, or (ii) between the amount derived by multiplication of unit price with quantity and the total price, or (iii) between words and figures, the former will prevail. In case of discrepancy between the Technical and Financial Proposals in indicating quantities of input, the Technical Proposal prevails and the Client's evaluation committee shall correct the quantification indicated in the Financial Proposal so as to make it consistent with that indicated in the Technical Proposal, apply the relevant unit price included in the Financial Proposal to the corrected quantity, and correct the total Proposal cost.
b. Lump-Sum Contracts	24.2 If a Lump-Sum contract form is included in the RFP, the Consultant is deemed to have included all prices in the Financial Proposal, so neither arithmetical corrections nor price adjustments shall be made. The total price, net of taxes understood as per Clause

	ITC 25 below, specified in the Financial Proposal (Form FIN-1) shall be considered as the offered price.
25. Taxes	25.1 The Client's evaluation of the Consultant's Financial Proposal shall exclude taxes and duties in the Client's country in accordance with the instructions in the Data Sheet.
26. Conversion to Single Currency	26.1 For the evaluation purposes, prices shall be converted to a single currency using the selling rates of exchange, source and date indicated in the Data Sheet.
27. Combined Quality and Cost Evaluation
a. Quality- and Cost-Based Selection (QCBS)	27.1 In the case of QCBS, the total score is calculated by weighting the technical and financial scores and adding them as per the formula and instructions in the Data Sheet. The Consultant achieving the highest combined technical and financial score will be invited for negotiations.
b. Fixed-Budget Selection (FBS)	27.2 In the case of FBS, those Proposals that exceed the budget indicated in Clause 14.1.4 of the Data Sheet shall be rejected. 27.3 The Client will select the Consultant that submitted the highest-ranked Technical Proposal that does not exceed the budget indicated in the RFP, and invite such Consultant to negotiate the Contract.

c. Least-Cost Selection	27.4 In the case of Least-Cost Selection (LCS), the Client will select the Consultant with the lowest evaluated total price among those consultants that achieved the minimum technical score, and invite such Consultant to negotiate the Contract.
D. Negotiations and Award
28. Negotiations	28.1 The negotiations will be held at the date and address indicated in the Data Sheet with the Consultant's representative(s) who must have written power of attorney to negotiate and sign a Contract on behalf of the Consultant. 28.2 The Client shall prepare minutes of negotiations that are signed by the Client and the Consultant's authorized representative.
a. Availability of Key Experts	28.3 The invited Consultant shall confirm the availability of all Key Experts included in the Proposal as a pre-requisite to the negotiations, or, if applicable, a replacement in accordance with Clause 12 of the ITC. Failure to confirm the Key Experts' availability may result in the rejection of the Consultant's Proposal and the Client proceeding to negotiate the Contract with the next-ranked Consultant. 28.4 Notwithstanding the above, the substitution of Key Experts at the negotiations may be considered if due solely to circumstances outside the reasonable control of and not foreseeable by the Consultant, including but not limited to death or medical incapacity. In such case, the Consultant shall offer a substitute Key Expert within the period of time specified in the letter of invitation to negotiate the Contract, who shall have equivalent or better qualifications and experience than the original candidate.
b. Technical negotiations	28.5 The negotiations include discussions of the Terms of Reference (TORs), the proposed methodology, the Client's inputs, the special conditions of the Contract, and finalizing the "Description of Services" part of the Contract. These discussions shall not substantially alter the original scope of services under the TOR or the terms of the contract, lest the quality of the final product, its price, or the relevance of the initial evaluation be affected.
c. Financial negotiations	28.6 The negotiations include the clarification of the Consultant's tax liability in the Client's country and how it should be reflected in the Contract. 28.7 If the selection method included cost as a factor in the evaluation, the total price stated in the Financial Proposal for a Lump-Sum contract shall not be negotiated.

	28.8 In the case of a Time-Based contract, unit rates negotiations shall not take place, except when the offered Key Experts and Non-Key Experts' remuneration rates are much higher than the typically charged rates by consultants in similar contracts. In such case, the Client may ask for clarifications and, if the fees are very high, ask to change the rates after consultation with the Bank. The format for (i) providing information on remuneration rates in the case of Quality Based Selection; and (ii) clarifying remuneration rates' structure under Clause 28.8 above, is provided in Appendix A to the Financial Form FIN-3: Financial Negotiations – Breakdown of Remuneration Rates.
29. Conclusion of Negotiations	29.1 The negotiations are concluded with a review of the finalized draft Contract, which then shall be initialed by the Client and the Consultant's authorized representative. 29.2 If the negotiations fail, the Client shall inform the Consultant in writing of all pending issues and disagreements and provide a final opportunity to the Consultant to respond. If disagreement persists, the Client shall terminate the negotiations informing the Consultant of the reasons for doing so. After having obtained the Bank's no objection, the Client will invite the next-ranked Consultant to negotiate a Contract. Once the Client commences negotiations with the next-ranked Consultant, the Client shall not reopen the earlier negotiations.
30. Award of Contract	30.1 After completing the negotiations the Client shall obtain the Bank's no objection to the negotiated draft Contract, if applicable; sign the Contract; publish the award information as per the instructions in the Data Sheet; and promptly notify the other shortlisted Consultants. 30.2 The Consultant is expected to commence the assignment on the date and at the location specified in the Data Sheet.

"Fraud and Corruption

1.23 It is the Bank's policy to require that Borrowers (including beneficiaries of Bank loans), consultants, and their agents (whether declared or not), sub-contractors, sub-consultants, service providers, or suppliers, and any personnel thereof, observe the highest standard of ethics during the selection and execution of Bank-financed contracts [footnote: In this context, any action taken by a consultant or any of its personnel, or its agents, or its sub-consultants, sub-contractors, services providers, suppliers, and/or their employees, to influence the selection process or contract execution for undue advantage is improper.]. In pursuance of this policy, the Bank:

(a) defines, for the purposes of this provision, the terms set forth below as follows:

- (i) "corrupt practice" is the offering, giving, receiving, or soliciting, directly or indirectly, of anything of value to influence improperly the actions of another party[4];

Section 7. Terms of Reference

7.1 Background

i. The Government of India along with State and Local Governments is implementing several flagship Urban Missions for improving various aspects of urban development in Indian cities. An underlying goal of these initiatives is to make Indian cities more ‘Liveable’. This will mean not only providing good quality core infrastructure and services, but also developing cities with ample opportunities for work, entertainment and cultural activities, improved social infrastructure and economic opportunity;

ii. In order to do this through a structured approach it is important to create a common minimum framework, which cities can use to assess their ‘Liveability’ and measure their progress over time. In this context, the Ministry of Urban Development has developed a set of ‘Liveability Standards in Cities’. These will act as a guiding framework for cities to chart their pathway towards liveability and result in a systematic improvement in the quality of life of citizens in Indian cities. The draft ‘Liveability Standards in Cities’ are attached at Annexure X;

iii. A total of 79 different Liveability Standards are proposed across 15 different categories. The Ministry proposes to conduct an ‘Annual Assessment of Liveability in Cities’ across the various standards and develop a ‘City Liveability Index’ – an annual index of the liveability standards in Indian cities. This is an ambitious national project requiring yearly compilation of a large number of datasets across the various Liveability Standards;

iv. A total of 116 cities will be covered in Year 1 (list of cities for Year 1 is provided at Annexure XX), and the coverage of cities may be extended in subsequent years. The following classification of cities will be used for the purpose of the study

1	Small Towns	Less than 50,000 population
2	Medium Towns	Population ≥ 50,000 < 5 lakh
3	Large Towns	Population ≥ 5 lakh < 1 million
4	Metropolitan Cities	Population ≥ 1 million < 5 million
5	Megapolis	Population ≥ 5 million

* Based on the Classification given in the URDPFI guidelines, 2014

v. Given the magnitude of data collection and field surveys required, the MoUD wishes to engage the services of a reputed national/international agency/institution for Conducting a study and field survey of Liveability Standards (the ‘Assignment’) across all cities included in the study. This will cover all relevant data required by the MoUD for computing the 79 Liveability

Standards. The data generated from the assignment will be used by the MoUD for calculating the City Liveability Index of cities on an annual basis;

IV. Appendices

APPENDIX A– TERMS OF REFERENCE

7.1 Background

i. The Government of India along with State and Local Governments is implementing several flagship Urban Missions for improving various aspects of urban development in Indian cities. An underlying goal of these initiatives is to make Indian cities more ‘Liveable’. This will mean not only providing good quality core infrastructure and services, but also developing cities with ample opportunities for work, entertainment and cultural activities, improved social infrastructure and economic opportunity;

ii. In order to do this through a structured approach it is important to create a common minimum framework, which cities can use to assess their ‘Liveability’ and measure their progress over time. In this context, the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs has developed a set of ‘Liveability Standards in Cities’. These will act as a guiding framework for cities to chart their pathway towards liveability and result in a systematic improvement in the quality of life of citizens in Indian cities. The draft ‘Liveability Standards in Cities’ as at http://smartcities.gov.in/upload/uploadfiles/files/LiveabilityStandards.pdf ;

iii. A total of 79 different Liveability Standards are proposed across 15 different categories. The Ministry proposes to conduct an ‘Annual Assessment of Liveability in Cities’ across the various standards and develop a ‘City Liveability Index’ – an annual index of the liveability standards in Indian cities. This is an ambitious national project requiring yearly compilation of a large number of datasets across the various Liveability Standards;

iv. A total of 116 cities will be covered in Year 1 (list of cities for Year 1 is provided at Annexure A), and the coverage of cities may be extended in subsequent years. The following classification of cities will be used for the purpose of the study

Classification*		Population range

2	Medium Towns	Population ≥ 50,000 < 5 lakh
3	Large Towns	Population ≥ 5 lakh < 1 million
4	Metropolitan Cities	Population ≥ 1 million < 5 million

5	Megapolis	Population ≥ 5 million

 Based on the Classification given in the URDPFI guidelines, 2014*

Given the magnitude of data collection and field surveys required, the MoHUA wishes to engage the services of a reputed national/international agency/institution for Conducting a study and field survey of Liveability Standards (the 'Assignment') across all cities included in the study. IV. Appendices

APPENDIX A– TERMS OF REFERENCE

7.1 Background

i. The Government of India along with State and Local Governments is implementing several flagship Urban Missions for improving various aspects of urban development in Indian cities. An underlying goal of these initiatives is to make Indian cities more 'Liveable'. This will mean not only providing good quality core infrastructure and services, but also developing cities with ample opportunities for work, entertainment and cultural activities, improved social infrastructure and economic opportunity;

ii. In order to do this through a structured approach it is important to create a common minimum framework, which cities can use to assess their 'Liveability' and measure their progress over time. In this context, the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs has developed a set of 'Liveability Standards in Cities'. These will act as a guiding framework for cities to chart their pathway towards liveability and result in a systematic improvement in the quality of life of citizens in Indian cities. The draft 'Liveability Standards in Cities' as at http://smartcities.gov.in/upload/uploadfiles/files/LiveabilityStandards.pdf ;

iii. A total of 79 different Liveability Standards are proposed across 15 different categories. The Ministry proposes to conduct an 'Annual Assessment of Liveability in Cities' across the various standards and develop a 'City Liveability Index' – an annual index of the liveability standards in Indian cities. This is an ambitious national project requiring yearly compilation of a large number of datasets across the various Liveability Standards;

iv. A total of 116 cities will be covered in Year 1 (list of cities for Year 1 is provided at Annexure A), and the coverage of cities may be extended in subsequent years. The following classification of cities will be used for the purpose of the study

Classification*		Population range

3	Large Towns	Population ≥ 5 lakh < 1 million
4	Metropolitan Cities	Population ≥ 1 million < 5 million

5	Megapolis	Population ≥ 5 million

 Based on the Classification given in the URDPFI guidelines, 2014*

Given the magnitude of data collection and field surveys required, the MoHUA wishes to engage the services of a reputed national/international agency/institution for Conducting a study and field survey of Liveability Standards (the 'Assignment') across all cities included in the study. This will cover all relevant data required by the MoHUA for computing the 79 Liveability Standards. EIU's Global Liveability Ranking

Global Liveability Ranking 2016

The latest findings of The Economist Intelligence Unit's Global Liveability Ranking – which provides scores for lifestyle challenges in 140 cities worldwide – show that although Melbourne has retained its crown as the world's most liveable city, liveability has deteriorated in 29 of the 140 cities (20 per cent) surveyed over the last 12 months.

The decline is largely a result of heightened fears over terrorism with more than 1,000 reported attacks in 2016 so far, with incidents in France, Turkey, the US and Belgium being the most high profile. Factors such as social unrest in many US cities due to the deaths of black people in police custody, tensions in Eastern Europe and Asia and the ongoing civil wars in Ukraine, Syria and Libya have compounded the decline.

The Economist Intelligence Unit's liveability rating, part of the Worldwide Cost of Living Survey, quantifies the challenges that might be presented to an individual's lifestyle across five broad categories of Stability, Healthcare, Culture and environment, Education and Infrastructure.

TECH-3: COMMENTS AND SUGGESTIONS ON THE TERMS OF REFERENCE, COUNTERPART STAFF, AND FACILITIES TO BE PROVIDED BY THE CLIENT

A - On the Terms of Reference

Comments on the Terms of Reference

At the outset, we commend the efforts of the Ministry to embark on such a timely and relevant exercise and the detailed methodology document, which serves as a guidance note for the same. We are excited to be given an opportunity to participate in developing a framework for rolling out such an exercise. Based on our experience of developing a technical response to this bid, our observations are summarized below.

Our review of the methodology document confirms need for some form of physical assessment- sample survey or validation required for 24 of these indicators Phase 1 of our proposal. These 24 indicators vary from non-motorized transport, hotels and schools among others. The TOR does not clearly specify what a consultant must do if the data is not available for these indicators. Several of them (for example modal share of transport) are technical outputs that demand detailed studies and cannot be determined through a random physical audit

Given the timelines available, a critical assumption made is that the physical validation will be performed on only those data parameters submitted by the city government, through a random audit/physical inspection

Also our approach categorizes the data sub groups into a) Indicators where secondary data will be provided by city/ report 'as is' and no validation required b) Indicators where secondary data is available and will require validation through field visits/ sample survey/ citizen feedback c) indicators where secondary data is missing but can be collected d) indicators where secondary data is not available and will be excluded.

Our technical proposal and financial proposal is built on this categorisation We would be very keen to discuss and receive your feedback during proposal discussion stage to finetune this categorisation as well as discuss implication of this approach for both the timelines and costs.

B - On Counterpart Staff and Facilities

A summary of the key support areas where we look forward for support for MoHUA is outlined below:

- City officials are informed of the assignment vide a circular of the proposed assessment
- A state nodal officer will be appointed in every state to co-ordinate with the consultants to facilitate the implementation of the entire process
- A clear reporting structure is established for approval and sign off on all the key milestones and deliverables
- A clear process for reconciliation of differences between self-reported and audited data outputs to be identified and put in place early on.
- Facilitation of secondary datasets available across different flagship schemes within the ministry to ensure effective delivery of the ‘pre-filled’ data templates for each city

A. Technical Approach and Methodology

Liveability – Ranking and Beyond

Urban expansion in India is anticipated to grow at a pace unlike anything the country or the world has seen before, with much of the population likely to be concentrated in cities with a population of a 1 million plus. This trend brings with it several opportunities and challenges and clearly a trend of intensified competition among cities to attract talent and resources, with 'liveability' occupying centre stage in much of the new discourse.

Livability rankings are a common feature in several countries and is an opportunity to systematically quantify the challenges that may be presented to an individual's lifestyle and offers itself as an instrument for policy reform, resource mobilization, investment prioritization and management of services.

It is heartening to note that India, under the leadership of MoHUA, has embarked on measuring the 'liveability' of its cities and we are excited to draw from our collective experience to summarize our appreciation/understanding of what such an exercise can offer.

First, are a set of highlights of our approach to the data collection and the ranking exercise:

1. Indicator development: While the guidelines define a set of indicator areas, for the exercise to be objective and consistent, bespoke guiding questions for data collection that is aligned with the 'language of data' used by city governments and aligned with global best-practices needs to be developed. This aim here is to minimise comparability issues – e.g. the definition of capital spending for indicator 1.7 under Category 1: Governance (such as what expenditure categories may fall into infrastructure and assets) or the definition of access to digital education under indicator 3.4 for Category 3: Education, (mapping what qualifies as access to digital education) Here the team seeks to leverage the experience of the Economist's step by step approach in developing such frameworks and the experience of IPSOS and Athena Infonomics in creating and scaling up similar large scale ranking exercises in India. (Refer Phase 1 of our detailed A&M for a detailed description of this approach)

2. A pilot for city GDP: The ability to measure a city's output and use that as a baseline to track its growth can be invaluable particularly in the context of the large capex investments that the identified smart cities are expected to attract. Given the opportunity to interact with a large number of cities, with varying data ecosystems, an attempt will be made to pilot test as part of the data collection exercise an approach to systematically map and calculate the city's GDP, which can be further refined in the subsequent rounds.

3. Innovations in sampling and audit using spatial data: A unique system of auditing indicators using publicly available open source spatial data sets will be deployed and a geo-spatial sampling strategy to ensure that the citizen surveys are well diversified across the city will be deployed

4. An online portal for real-time tracking of progress and outcomes: Through the creation of an online portal right at the start of the assessment and real-time tracking of the progress of the liveability ranking exercise across phases (training workshops, data collection, validation and ranking) we hope to induce and leverage the competitive spirit that has driven the smart city process.

5. Economist Hub- Effective national and global dissemination: The Economist Intelligence Unit is a global leader in data intelligence and as a key intellectual partner to this JV will lead the development of a dedicated 'economist hub' with interactive workbooks and dashboards to present the findings of the liveability rankings.

While there are numerous positive spill overs to the liveability ranking, there are three key strands that we hope to get a dialogue initiated on. The team will submit at the end of the exercise a white paper on the potential the liveability ranking exercise has in moving the needle of various policy and programmatic goals of the nation, with a detailed analysis on the following:

- Data availability, access and quality: A framework to systematically evaluate the key gaps in data availability and quality will be developed and deployed and suggestions on smart data collection protocols developed to inform future data collection strategies and strengthen the data ecosystem. This approach It segregates "available data" from "quality data". In areas like water and sanitation, which carry with them a number of citizen sensitivities, there is a conflict of interest between data reporting and service delivery functions, which are usually vested in the same agency. By looking at data quality through a standardized process view (representativeness, third party validation etc.), it is possible to identify datasets which are more likely to be error prone than others

- City-centric use cases- Interoperability and convergence with domestic policy and programme levers: MoHUA under the smart city mission has already launched an initiative to set up integrated digital platforms which will provide the infrastructure backbone to host and run citizen and other e-government applications. The newly created datasets when generated can be linked to the platform and opportunities for use-cases by overcoming interoperability concerns may be explored. The ranking exercise (once the data maturity improved) may also serve as a planning tool or soft collateral for attracting investments and raising resources as illustrated in the figure below. Some of the key convergence and use-case applications between this exercise and the key goals set out by the MoHUA will be explored and documented

This study serves as a data enabler assessment exercise

Currently cities are at various levels in the data pyramid and operate with data that is scattered and available in various legacy formats

The liveability index is an excellent opportunity in the first phase to systematically identify gaps in data and map its use cases

In subsequent phases, it emerges as a driver to build mature data ecosystems with a common data architecture, addressing issues of data interoperability, scalability and integration

- Global use-cases- Alignment with global data reporting requirements: The newly generated data sets may also serve as an opportunity to systematically explore convergence between the data being generated by cities and global development standards like the SDGs and provides for an opportunity to explore what it means to achieve some of those goals at the local level and generate data at the level of local governments to better track progress on development goals.

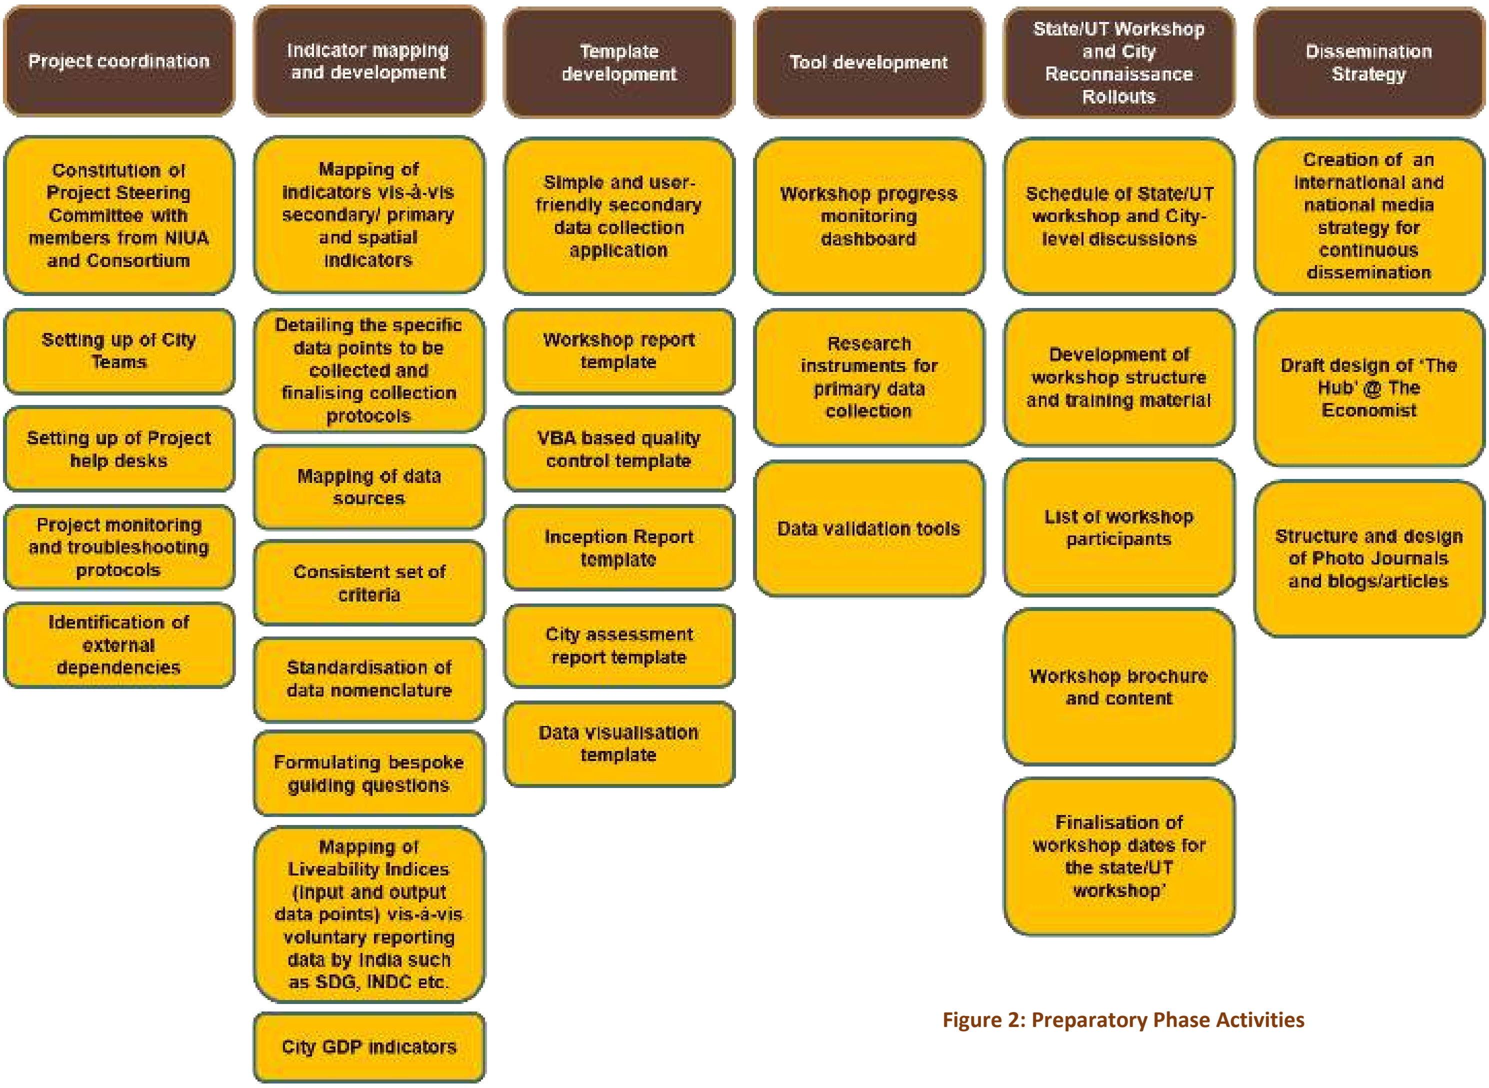
Phase 1: Preparatory phase: [Week 1 – W8]

The first four weeks are extremely crucial for this assignment as it would entail completion of preparatory steps for the short-term project milestones such as state level workshops and city reconnaissance discussions and gain momentum on the mid-term project milestones involving secondary and primary data collection including validation and report preparation. This phase will involve activities on the following areas:



Project coordination	Indicator mapping and development	Template development	Tool development	State/UT Workshop and City Reconnaissance Rollouts	Dissemination Strategy
Constitution of Project Steering Committee with members from NIUA and Consortium	Mapping of indicators vis-à-vis secondary/ primary and spatial indicators	Simple and user-friendly secondary data collection application	Workshop progress monitoring dashboard	Schedule of State/UT workshop and City-level discussions	Creation of an international and national media strategy for continuous dissemination
Setting up of City Teams	Detailing the specific data points to be collected and finalising collection protocols	Workshop report template	Research instruments for primary data collection	Development of workshop structure and training material	Draft design of 'The Hub' @ The Economist
Setting up of Project help desks	Mapping of data sources	VBA based quality control template	Data validation tools	List of workshop participants	Structure and design of Photo Journals and blogs/articles
Project monitoring and troubleshooting protocols	Consistent set of criteria	Inception Report template		Workshop brochure and content
Identification of external dependencies	Standardisation of data nomenclature	City assessment report template		Finalisation of workshop dates for the state/UT workshop'
	Formulating bespoke guiding questions	Data visualisation template
	Mapping of Liveability Indices (input and output data points) vis-à-vis voluntary reporting data by India such as SDG, INDC etc.
	City GDP indicators

Given the short and intense nature of the assignment we propose to have a human resources structure in place to enable seamless effective and timely coordination. A four-tier project team is proposed comprising a Project Steering Committee (PSC), Key Experts (Full time Core Team) and Support Teams shortly after commencement of the assignment.

The PSC will have representative from the MoHUA, NIUA, the World Bank and Key Experts. A Project Command Centre with video conferencing facilities would be set up to monitor the entire project including state workshops, secondary and primary data collection. The PSC will have access to dashboards for monitoring the progress of a) state level workshops b) secondary and primary data collection c) Queries and troubleshooting at state/UT-level Help Desks. The PSC will be the final point of approval on protocols for data collection, training content, project reporting, issue escalation and, troubleshooting for various aspects of the project such as support from state/UT/City Governments, data availability/gaps or lags etc.

While most of the 79 indicators comprising the Liveability Indices can be computed based on secondary data available with the City Government, some of them require primary and/or spatial data inputs/validation. The 'Methodology for Collection and Computation of Liveability Standards in Cities' document has detailed the input data points required for computation of each indicator and has also specified the type (secondary/ primary/ spatial) of data points required. The figure below maps and categorises indicators based on different data collection interfaces.

It will also involve building a consistent set of criteria for computation of the indicators – for instance method for estimation of city population (estimating city population based on 2011 Census or estimates provided by City Governments), approach for testing air/water quality etc. that could be used across cities. Our team will deploy a systematic approach to define clearly every indicators and collection protocols to ensure comparability (E.g., what could be construed as a Command Centre? Are there a minimum number of services that should be integrated under the Command Centre?) What is the standard definition of a 'smart meter?' etc. Here, the aim is to provide guidance for cities and analysts, with good tracking mechanisms.

Some of the indicators such as 'percentage of citizen services available online', 'percentage of services integrated through Command Centre,' etc. have been detailed for some of the ULB functions (e.g., property tax functions) and sub-services (e.g., city transport) but the rest needs to be further developed. Please refer figure below for an illustration of our overall approach

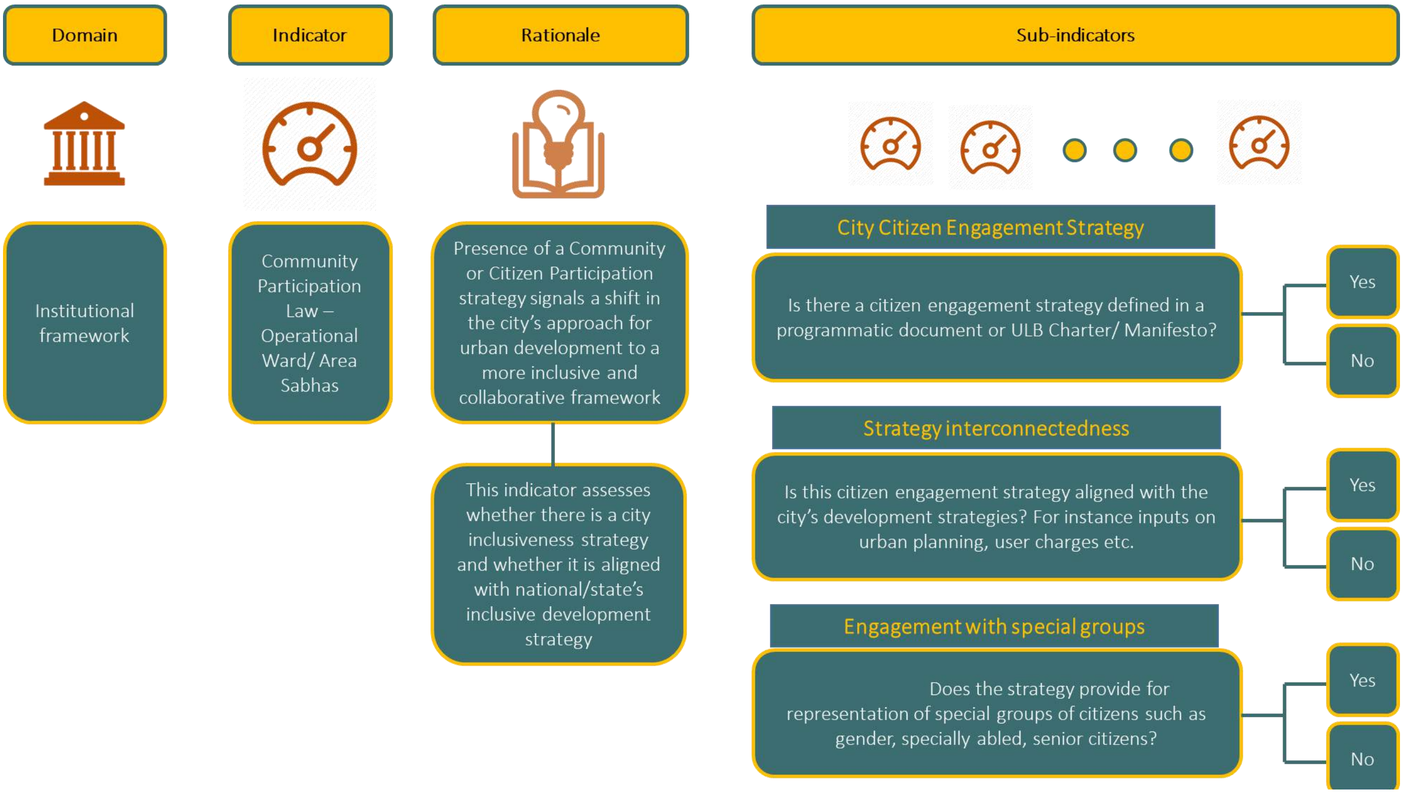
Our approach aims to minimise comparability issues – e.g., the definition of capital spending for indicator 1.7 under Category 1: Governance (such as what expenditure categories may fall into infrastructure and assets) or the definition of access to digital education under indicator 3.4 for Category 3: Education, which covers the type of digital infrastructure available as well as various ways to access digital learning networks.

A detailed guidance document capturing suggestive list of items/key words would be prepared based on secondary research as well as global best practices for key definitions and provided to Cities for reference. The draft detailed indicator list will subsequently be validated in Phase 2.

Scoring indicators requires a robust methodology. To add robustness and objectivity to the scoring, we propose developing bespoke guiding questions (in a manner consistent with local body nomenclature and jargon) for the indicator. This will greatly enhance the robustness of the framework. An example of our step by step approach is shown below, for an existing index namely percentage of population covered under Ward Committees/ Area Sabhas.



Domain

Sub-indicators
Institutional framework
Community Participation Law – Operational Ward/ Area Sabhas
Presence of a Community or Citizen Participation strategy signals a shift in the city's approach for urban development to a more inclusive and collaborative framework
This indicator assesses whether there is a city inclusiveness strategy and whether it is aligned with national/state's inclusive development strategy
City Citizen Engagement Strategy
Is there a citizen engagement strategy defined in a programmatic document or ULB Charter/ Manifesto?
Yes
No
Strategy interconnectedness
Is this citizen engagement strategy aligned with the city's development strategies? For instance inputs on urban planning, user charges etc.

Engagement with special groups
Does the strategy provide for representation of special groups of citizens such as gender, specially abled, senior citizens?
Yes

Framework for Measuring City GDP

As part of this exercise, we are keen to explore the feasibility of estimating the economic output of the identified smart cities and explore if a baseline on the same can be created with publicly available data sets/information provided by cities. This is perhaps particularly credible given the kind of capex investments these cities are expected to attract. As part of this exercise we will develop and integrate the data requirements associated with the process of measuring the city's GDP in the overall data collection exercise and explore the quality of the data ecosystem to support such an exercise

EIU is currently carrying out a similar exercise in China.

Context

The prosperity and welfare of cities around depend on the capacity of cities to take advantage of opportunities for sustained employment growth and minimise the challenges of national and global economic integration and urban population growth. Therefore, the quality of economic development planning and city management is extremely important. Developing sound local economic development strategies at the city level is critical to both good city management and economic performance.

The purpose of the city economic rankings is to augur a health sense of competition between cities to attract investments and high-quality jobs. These rankings will also help smart city managers identify fast-growing economic opportunities in their cities and further propel their growth. As such, growth indicators, rather than those reflecting absolute size or wealth, will be chosen. However, to ensure that the ranked cities have a critical mass attractive to investors and new businesses, a minimum population cut-off point of will be determined and used. A nuanced methodology will be developed after a detailed review of the data ecosystem available. Ex: The metropolitan population will be a measured as the true urban population of a city; it includes the population only in the contiguously built city area.

Proposed Methodology

A comprehensive methodology for assessment of City level economic performance will be developed and tested for top twenty cities as part of the project. The methodology will be akin Economist Intelligence Unit's China Emerging city rankings is to identify where new business opportunities in urban China are likely to emerge because of rapid growth in population and incomes.

Growth over the next five-year period of 2018-2023 in infrastructure and property, economic output (GDP per head), consumption, job creation and population will form the core of the ranking framework. Consumer markets are included in the form of household incomes and spending. For population and GDP per head, five-year forecasts derived from the EIU's demographic and regional forecasting models will be used so that the index reflects expectations for the future.

We will supplement these indicators, wherever possible with historic city-level data that assess changes in infrastructure and property (fixed-asset investment and the urban built area), public finances (fiscal revenue) and the external environment (foreign direct investment and goods exports). Although these indicators are historic, the effects they bring to the real economy will be lagged and last for years. The CAGRs will be normalized and benchmarked to produce rankings across each indicator. The nine indicators are weighted equally in the overall index.

Disaggregation of data at the city level using a combination of official statistics and smart proxies will be attempted. Data parameters will be collected and studied at the city level. Inter alia, these include population, real estate market trends, tax receipts, infrastructure investments and demand, transportation, energy consumption, night-time light data (radiance and saturated light emissions) etc.,

Illustrations

These illustrations are largely drawn from the China Emerging City Rankings (2010-15) which has been developed in collaboration with the Chinese authorities to analyse and present a city level picture of economic resilience and performance. These Rankings are prepared and disseminated by EIU widely and are highly referenced by analysts and business leaders globally. Significant decisions on job-propelling investments are made with the help if unique and highly nuanced insights provided by this data.

To ensure readiness for the subsequent phases, our team will develop templates ranging from secondary data collection to city assessment reports and collect inputs from the MoHUA early on. The following templates shall be prepared during the preparatory phase.

Data validation
State Workshop Reports

Refinement of indicators
Quality control

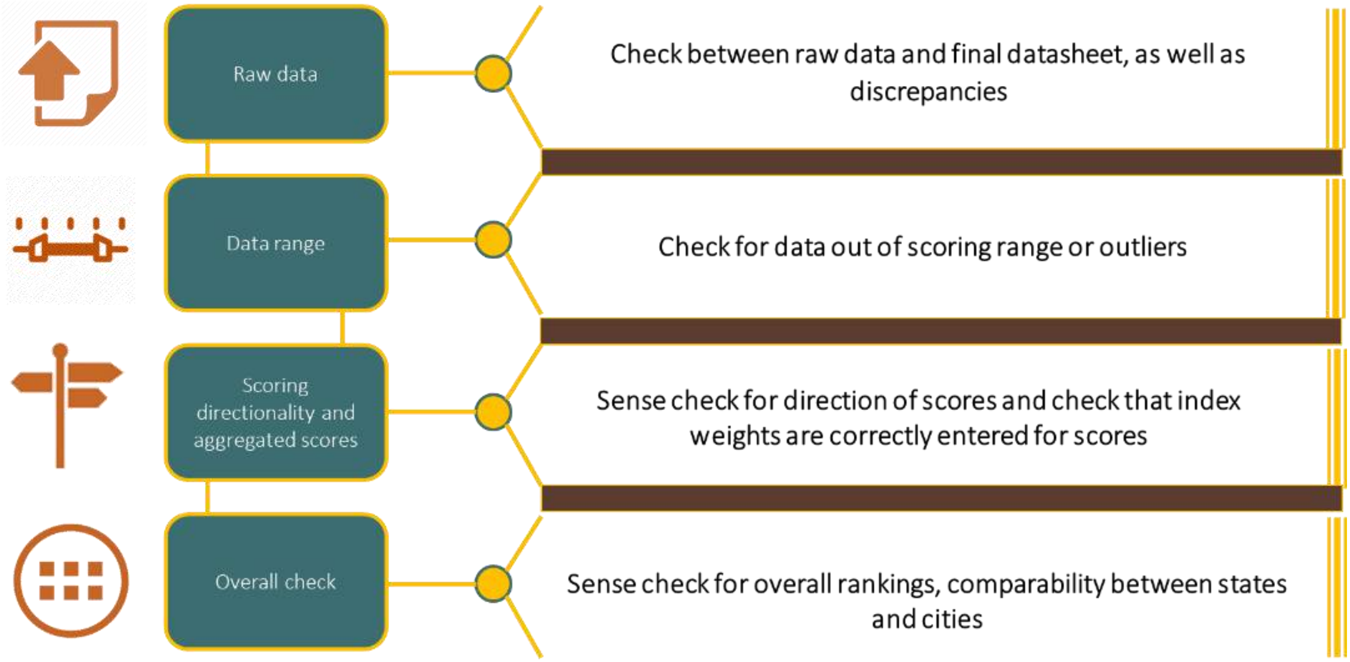
Customised secondary data template shall be prepared in advance for each city. The data template would comprise two categories of data fields, namely"

- New data fields
- Validation data fields

While the new data field will require cities to fill the data points afresh, the validation data field would comprise collation of real data from existing sources such as Census 2011, data.gov.in, Swacch Bharat Mission (Urban), Smart Cities Mission, Swacch Sarvekshan, HRIDAY, AMRUT and other programmes/schemes that could be either validated or revised by the cities. The data collection template will be an online tool e.g., sharepoint with in-built functions including drop-down menus for ease of access; this tool can be used without internet and cities could save draft versions and upload post finalisation. It is our standard practice to have a set of robust quality assurance procedures to be performed on every Excel index to minimise errors and oversight.



Raw data
Check between raw data and final datasheet, as well as discrepancies
Data range
Check for data out of scoring range or outliers
Scoring directionality and aggregated scores
Sense check for direction of scores and check that index weights are correctly entered for scores
Overall check
Sense check for overall rankings, comparability between states and cities

As stated earlier a simple and user-friendly online data entry portal will be developed on Sharepoint/VB and shared with the cities. Each city will be provided a customized login user name and password. Categories of data will be generated along the thematic heads identified under the Liveability programme guidelines and the user can easily navigate across pages and fill out those data points that are available at hand first. The cleaned and checked data will be fed into the model data analysis and visualisation template. Our consortium has the experience and expertise of building stunning data representation, interactive maps and digital story telling. For this assignment, we would develop a draft Excel model[2] which uses an interactive dashboard to visualise the data and benchmarking process; this can include:

Interactive heat map

Adjustable weightings to allow for customisation

A list of city scores by category and/or indicator

Custom scatterplots and correlation analysis

Ability to compare multiple cities simultaneously

Geography profile page with key data, along with strengths and weaknesses

The draft data visualisation template will be presented to the state and city officials during the state/UT-level engagements and shared with MoHUA for review and feedback. At the same time, the template will be revisited by our analysts as part of a quality-control procedure and to ensure city comparability. Data interoperability considerations

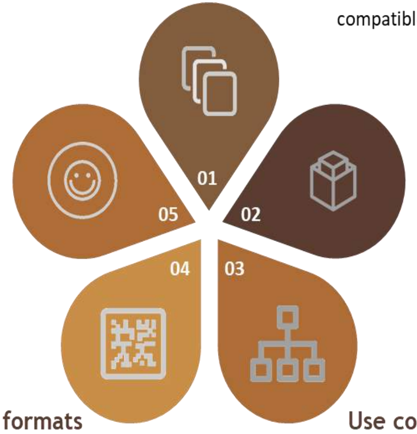
Global efforts are underway to integrate the increasing gamut of urban data for monitoring understanding, decision making, steering and control of urban landscape. However, the design of urban data is still on-going. with measures to standardise it can be seen even in India through game changing initiatives such as the Smart Cities Mission. We believe that the value of data multiplies when it is easily grasped by key stakeholders e.g., city administrators, citizens, etc. analysed and shared. The multiplicity of sources and formats poses a challenge to addressing queries raised by city stakeholders. These queries could be from city administrators or citizens, for instance, 'where is the greatest risk of mosquito-borne illness?' Or from citizens 'Which parts of the cities have the highest chances of receiving flash floods in the next few days?' The Smart Cities concept globally seeks to move towards this by addressing the issue of interoperability of urban data by defining an overarching framework of concepts and relationships that can be used to describe data from any sector and any source (BSI, 2016).

The liveability assessment exercise provides a platform to leverage the value of data by making it interoperable, open yet secure and use case applications. We see this assignment as opportunity to move the needle on data interoperability by developing a framework for urban data interoperability based on the principles of interoperability consolidated in the Cape Town Global Action Plan for Sustainable Development (2017). The key guiding principles are presented in figure below:



Use and re-use existing standards

- No new standards should be created in areas they already exist unless absolutely necessary.
- When new standards are created, they must be compatible with existing standards

Do not overlook metadata

- Metadata includes information on origin, authors/producers, date of production/version, etc.
- It is crucial for discoverability, accessibility and fostering trust and understanding of the context in which the data was produced.

Use common classifications wherever possible

- As more and more data is produced, we need to ensure that to the extent possible, the language used to define and classify that data is the same.

Publish data in machine-readable formats

- publishing data in machine readable formats is crucial to interoperability.
- It enables a computer to access, identify and filter data in an automated way.

Ensure that standards are user driven

- For data to be usable, it has to be driven by the needs of users themselves.
- The process of ensuring that data is usable can be complex and require trial and error, but is crucial to long-term success and impact.

Source: The frontiers of data interoperability for sustainable development, Development Initiatives, November 2017

Our framework will also examine the political economy framework for urban data (Edwards et. Al., 2016) that calls for a shift the focus of data driven governance policies and practices from capacity and supply to incentivising service delivery, transparency and accountability. The recent initiative of the MoHUA to provide INR 10,000 crore for municipal reform ushers this spirit in governance of cities in India. The political economy framework calls for provisioning and usage of urban data should be about the solution to concrete problems in urban environments, not just about the pure quantities of urban data.

At the end, urban data is simply a means to do urban monitoring, steering and development more effectively, efficiently and reliably. We also propose to outline some of the use case applications based on the consultations with state/UTs and cities considering the data that will be generated from this assessment exercise. Some of the operation enhancing questions or use case applications could be the following:

- When citizens apply for / obtain multiple services, which service do they typically apply for first?
- Is there a correlation between energy consumption and tenement structures?

ILLUSTRATIVE

- Where is there the greatest risk of mosquito borne illness?
- Is there a correlation between service delivery efficiencies in SWM and settlement type?

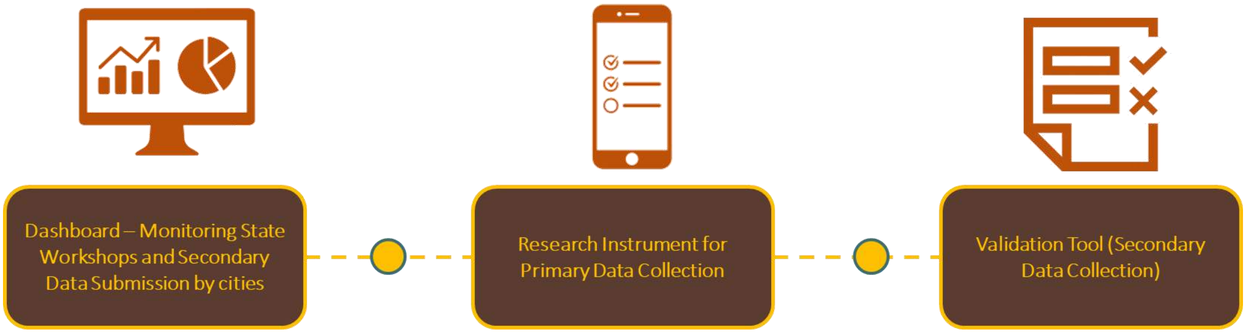
Tool development
State/UT Workshop and City Reconnaissance Rollouts
Dissemination Strategy

Three tools would be developed to assist with tracking consultations with state government and cities, primary data collection and for validation of secondary data points



Dashboard – Monitoring State Workshops and Secondary Data Submission by cities
Research Instrument for Primary Data Collection
Validation Tool (Secondary Data Collection)

The first tool i.e., for tracking State/UT/City level consultations will monitor the progress of 36 State/UT level workshops and 116 City Reconnaissance Meetings and provide updates on agreed data points, nodal contact person, timelines, mode of secondary data provision (online tool e.g., sharepoint vs. manual) among other aspects. This tool will be in the form of a dashboard that will also monitor the progress made by cities on secondary data submission.

We will develop a set of research instrument for primary data collection for an identified set of indicators. The research instrument will be coded into a mobile application and finalised post field test. Additionally, we will also develop draft template for validation of secondary data pertaining to some indicators such as number of schools having facilities for using digital content etc.

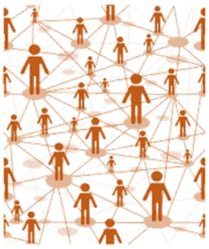
State/UT Workshop and City Reconnaissance Rollouts
Dissemination Strategy

We see the state/UT level engagements as a platform for not only disseminating the objectives and rationale for undertaking the liveability assessment of cities within each state/UT but also as an opportunity to finalise our approach for arriving at the input data points for each of the 79 indicators and associated modalities. As a run-up to the state/UT workshops and city reconnaissance missions, the following preparatory activities would be undertaken:

Identification of City level Stakeholders



City level stakeholder would be identified with respect to key stakeholder with respect to each indicator. The Methodology Report states the agency/department from which data could be obtained for each of the indicator. For instance, data on cost recovery, online services would be provided by the ULB, data on restoration of historic buildings are to be provided by ASI and State ASI apart from ULB. Similarly, data on projects on ecologically sensitives areas would be provided by the local development authority. Consideration would be given to identify key officials within an organisation as well.

Preparation and dispatch of city wise Secondary data collection sheets

An important step in this phase is to prepare city level data sheets covering the input data points for the 79 indicators to all the cities through the State nodal officer. The data sheets would be populated from existing data sources such as Census 2011, Swachh Sarvekshan, AMRUT, SCM, HRIDAY and other programmes/schemes. Advance dispatch of the sheets would provide cities some time to review and understand the required data points so that issues/clarifications could be made at the workshops.

Scheduling of State-level workshops and City Reconnaissance Missions

Timelines for State-level workshops and City level reconnaissance missions would be scheduled in consultations with the State nodal officer for each State. The dates for the workshop would be reflected on the State Workshop Progress Monitoring Dashboard as and when the dates for each workshop gets finalised. This dashboard would help MoHUA and States to track the progress of State workshops and city reconnaissance missions, respectively. This dashboard would later be utilized to monitor progress of secondary data submission by cities.

Preparation of draft workshop agenda and discussion content

A draft workshop agenda would be prepared and finalised in consultation with the MoHUA and respective State Governments. The workshop would have structured discussions around the following thematic areas – Project Background and Methodology, Understanding the indicators (demystifying nomenclatures and data points), smart proxies, data collection template, standardization of reporting period, data lags, incentives for timely/early submissions, etc.

Project coordination | Indicator mapping and development | Template development | Tool development | State/UT Workshop and City Reconnaissance Rollouts | Dissemination Strategy

We will create a strategy for dissemination of the city liveability assessments at the international and national level. While a national workshop to share the city level rankings is planned towards the end of the study we plan to engage with international, national, state and local level on an on-going basis through a host of media dissemination activities such as photo journals, articles, blogs and a high decibel social media campaign. One key outreach event is the creation of a dissemination platform - 'The Hub' @ The Economist to connect and share progress with global audience. Our dissemination activities will conclude with the national level workshop to demonstrate use-case of evidence generated by this exercise for futuristic urban planning for Indian cities.

Phase 2: State/UT-level Engagements and City Reconnaissance Missions [Week 5- Week 8]

Phase two will commence with launch of state/UT level workshops. Overall a total of 36 workshops will be conducted over a period of two to three months. Our teams would coordinate with the state level nodal officers early on for tentative dates for scheduling workshops. The objective of the State level workshop will be to familiarize the state/UT government and city representatives about the overall concept of Liveability Index, assessment methodology, data requirements, data sources, data collection interface/application and validation methodology and associated processes and timelines for submission of complete data. Schedule for city level reconnaissance meetings will able to finalised during the state/UT workshops. The figure below summarises the key activities and milestones to be complete in this phase.

Phase 2 State/City level engagement

Duration
W5-W8

Organisation of State-level Workshops

Launch and updation of Nation-wide workshop tracker

Preparation of workshop proceedings, materials and key-takeaways

Internal ToT, training of Field Staff and orientation of ULB Official

City level Reconnaissance meetings

Final list of indicators (with details as to calculation and ambit), incorporating comments from the workshop; and Inception Report preparation

Media dissemination through photo journals, national portal to be an on-going exercise

It is expected that about 40-45 participants comprising city representatives, state nodal officer, representatives from relevant line department of the State government and other participants suggested by the State Government will attend the workshop. Key outcomes of the State level workshops will include the following:

- Timelines for city level reconnaissance meetings

- Identification of preferred mode of data collection interface
- Timelines for confirming availability/unavailability of required data
- Timeliness for submission of secondary data
- Timelines for review and agreement on data
- Protocols for escalation of issues relating to data nomenclature, submission delays etc.
- Incentive structure for timely submission of secondary data

An initial list of participants will be drawn based on the agency suggested for different data points in the 'Methodology Report. This list would be finalised in consultation with the nodal officers of each state.

For example, if data is being collected in June 2017, data on total property tax demand and collection for 2016-17 must be obtained. • Data can be obtained from the revenue departments of ULBs	Revenue department
1.6 Extent of cost recovery (O&M) in water supply services	Methodology/ Interpretation and Sources of Data: • Data for water charges collected by the ULB and O&M costs for providing water supply services, should be obtained for previous financial year. For example, if data is being collected in June 2017, data on water charges and O&M costs for 2016-17 must be obtained. • Data can be obtained from the records of the ULB/ Water Utility	Water utility e.g., Delhi Jal Board, CMWSSB,
2.2 Percentage of ecologically important areas covered through projects for restoration	Methodology/ Interpretation and Sources of Data: • Ecologically sensitive sites will include surface water bodies, urban watershed (natural drainage lines), coastlines, riverfronts, wetlands and urban forests. • Such sites of ecological importance will need to be identified and plotted on a map in discussion with the ULB/ Planning officials. • Only completed projects should be included. Records of ULB/ Development Authority regarding completed projects must be corroborated through site visits.	Development authority e.g., CMDA, DDA, BDA
3.1 Percentage of school-aged population enrolled in schools	• Under U-DISE, school data is updated annually with 30th September as the reference date. • Data should include both public and private schools. • Data for population in age group of 6-14 years (eligible under RTE 2009) can be obtained from Education Department. In the absence of such data population Census may be used as base, and annual growth rate may be applied to arrive at current population.	Education Department
4.1 Number of in-patient hospital beds per 10,000 population	Methodology/ Interpretation and Sources of Data: • Data on hospital beds should include both public and private hospitals and should be sourced from the Health Department. • Population data can be sourced from the decennial Census of India. Past census figures should be used as base, and annual growth rate should then be used to arrive at current population.	Health Department
5.2 Number of recorded crimes per lakh population	Methodology/ Interpretation and Sources of Data: • Total number of cases should be based on the total number of cases registered with the Police department • Crime data can be obtained from the Police Department. Latest reports published by the National Crime Research Bureau (NCRB) can also be used for obtaining crime data.	Police Department
10.1 Percentage of city population with authorized electrical service	Methodology/ Interpretation and Sources of Data: • Only household connections (residential consumers) shall be counted for the indicator. • Data can be obtained from local electricity distribution companies (DISCOMs). • Data on households can be sourced from the decennial Census of India. Past census figures should be used as base, and annual growth rate should then be used to arrive at current population.	DISCOMS

Key ULB officials will participate in the state level workshops while the remaining officials may be encouraged to participate in city level reconnaissance discussions. An indicative programme structure is presented below:

Programme	Day 1	Day 2	Day 3	Day 4
Internal orientation to state/regional coordinators	√		ILLUSTRATIVE
State/UT workshop		√
City/ULB Reconnaissance discussions			√

Post the State/UT workshops, our team will engage in city-level reconnaissance missions that would involve meeting relevant city-level stakeholders including utilities (DISCOMS, water supply, etc.) SPV for Smart Cities, different project heads, parastatals such as development authorities, district collector, concerned line departments such as health, education, police, tourism, among others. Special focus will be given to engage with key officials within ULBs such as revenue, accounts, solid waste management etc.

For effective coordination, smooth exchange of information flow and continuity, it is proposed that engagement with the cities will be undertaken through a nodal officer at the state/UT level. A critical milestone of this workshop will be designation of nodal officer for overall coordination by the respective state/UT government. The nodal officer will also serve as the State Data Ombudsman and troubleshoot issues relating to data.

Incentive structure for data submission

A key challenge envisaged in this study pertains to potential challenges related to timely submission of secondary data by the cities. We propose to formulate an innovative incentive structure in consultation with MoHUA and convey it at the state/UT workshops/city meetings to ensure their buy-in. Some of the ways in which cities could be incentivised could be 'appreciation of best performing cities on national portal and social media campaign,' with SMS alerts sent to all key city representatives, and exclusive coverage of best performing cities in photo journals etc.

Monitoring progress of state/UT workshops and City Reconnaissance Missions

The progress of the state/UT workshops and City Reconnaissance Missions will be monitored through a dashboard that will be updated near-real time. The dashboard will information on upcoming, on-going and completed workshops and reconnaissance missions. Associated documents such as workshop agenda, list of participants, discussion materials, workshop proceedings/minutes, photographs, etc. will be accessible through the dashboard.

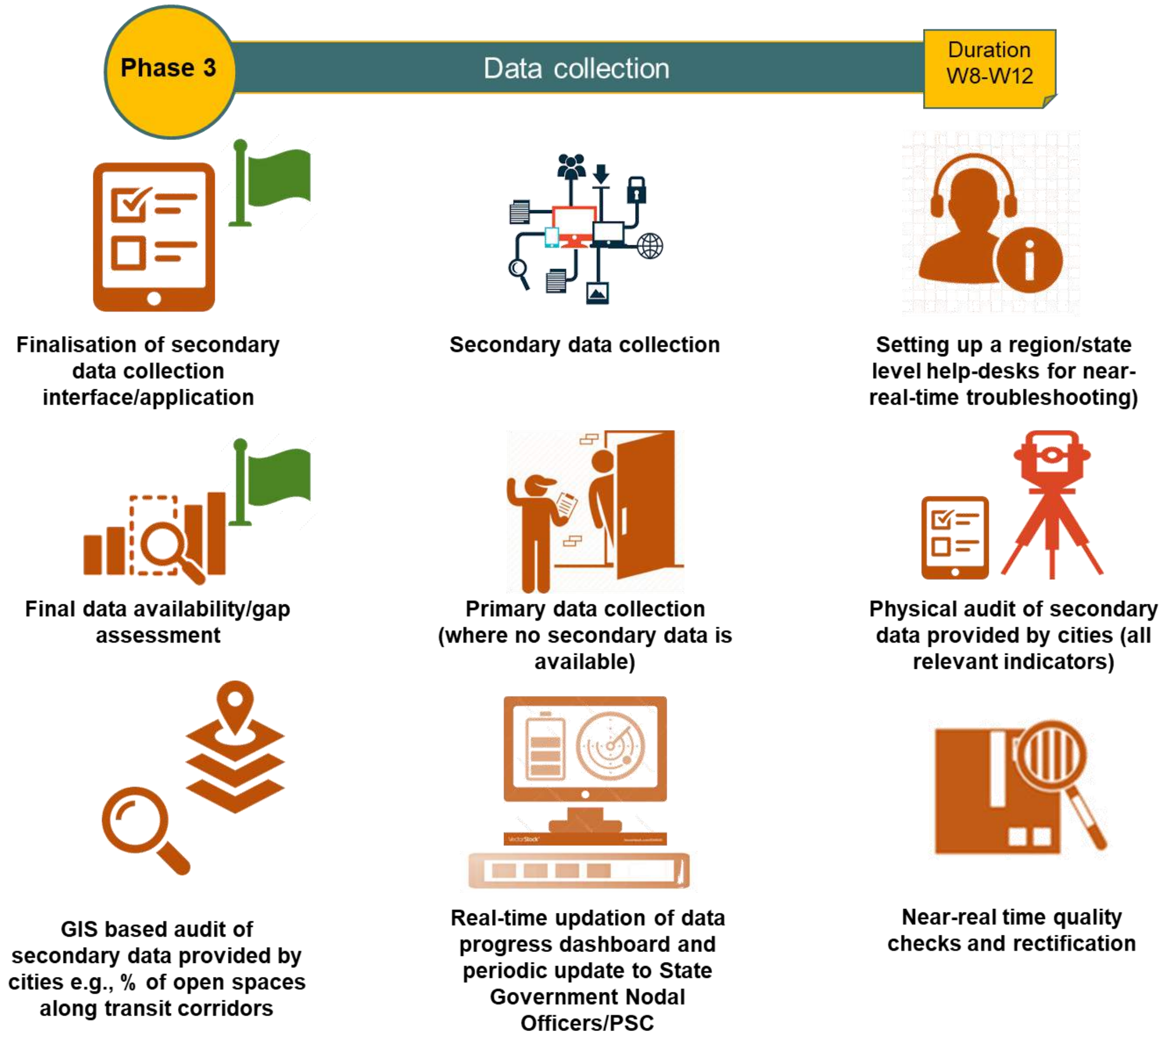
Phase 3: Data collection [Week 9 – Week 12]

This phase will involve the following activities:

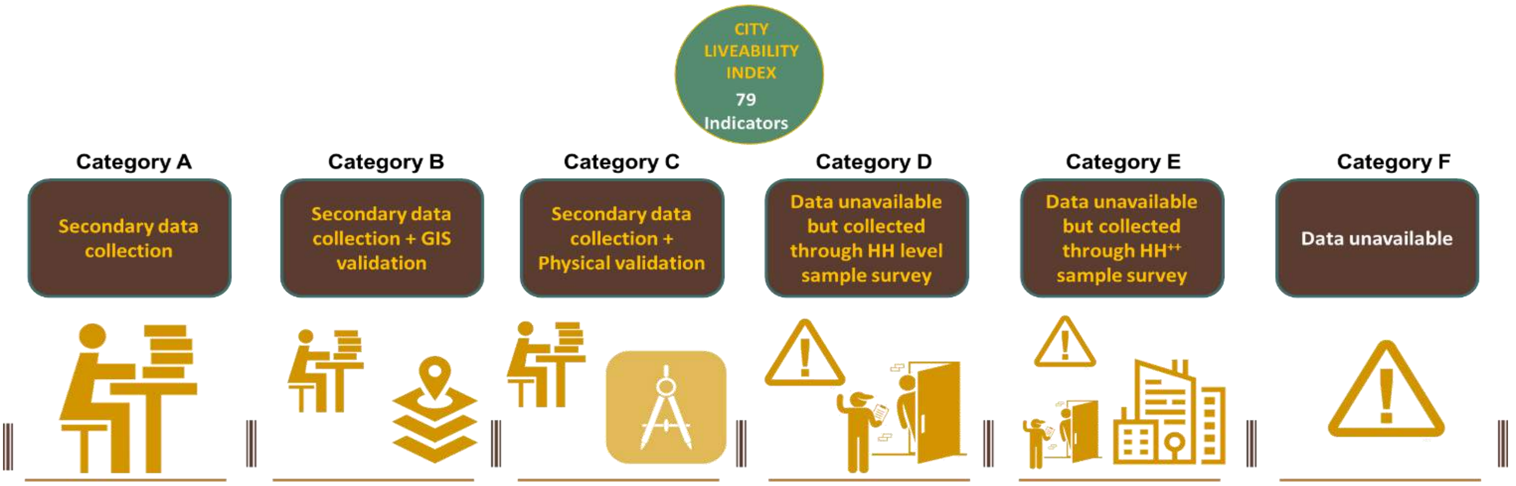


Phase 3
Data collection
Duration W8-W12
Finalisation of secondary data collection interface/application
Secondary data collection
Setting up a region/state level help-desks for near-real-time troubleshooting)
Final data availability/gap assessment
Primary data collection (where no secondary data is available)
Physical audit of secondary data provided by cities (all relevant indicators)
GIS based audit of secondary data provided by cities e.g., % of open spaces along transit corridors
Real-time updation of data progress dashboard and periodic update to State Government Nodal Officers/PSC
Near-real time quality checks and rectification

Media dissemination through photo journals, national portal to be an on-going exercise

We propose collection of secondary data as an on-going exercise as our teams will start collating city level data from the preparatory phase itself and prepare data sheets with pre-filled data covering the 79 indicators to the extent possible. However, formal data collection will commence from week 9 as indicated in the ToR.

As presented in the section on preparatory phase, the 79 indicators could have six categories of data collection interface.



CITY LIVEABILITY INDEX
79 Indicators
Category A
Secondary data collection
Category B
Secondary data collection + GIS validation
Category C
Secondary data collection + Physical validation
Category D
Data unavailable but collected through HH level sample survey
Category E
Data unavailable but collected through HH++ sample survey
Category F
Data unavailable

While it is expected that input data associated with all the 79 indicators will be provided by the cities, there could be some data gaps and concerns regarding period of availability, reporting units and formats, reliability etc. In this section we outline our preliminary approach for addressing the issues for various indicator category. For Category A (Secondary data collection), pre-filled templates will be prepared for each city wherever possible and shared for validation/filling new data.

State level helpdesks will be set up for each State/UT to assist the cities on any aspect relating to filling secondary data templates. This helpdesk would be manned by respective State level coordinators with technical back stopping facility by the support team.

Category B involves indicators that merit spatial validation. Some of the indicators under this category are:

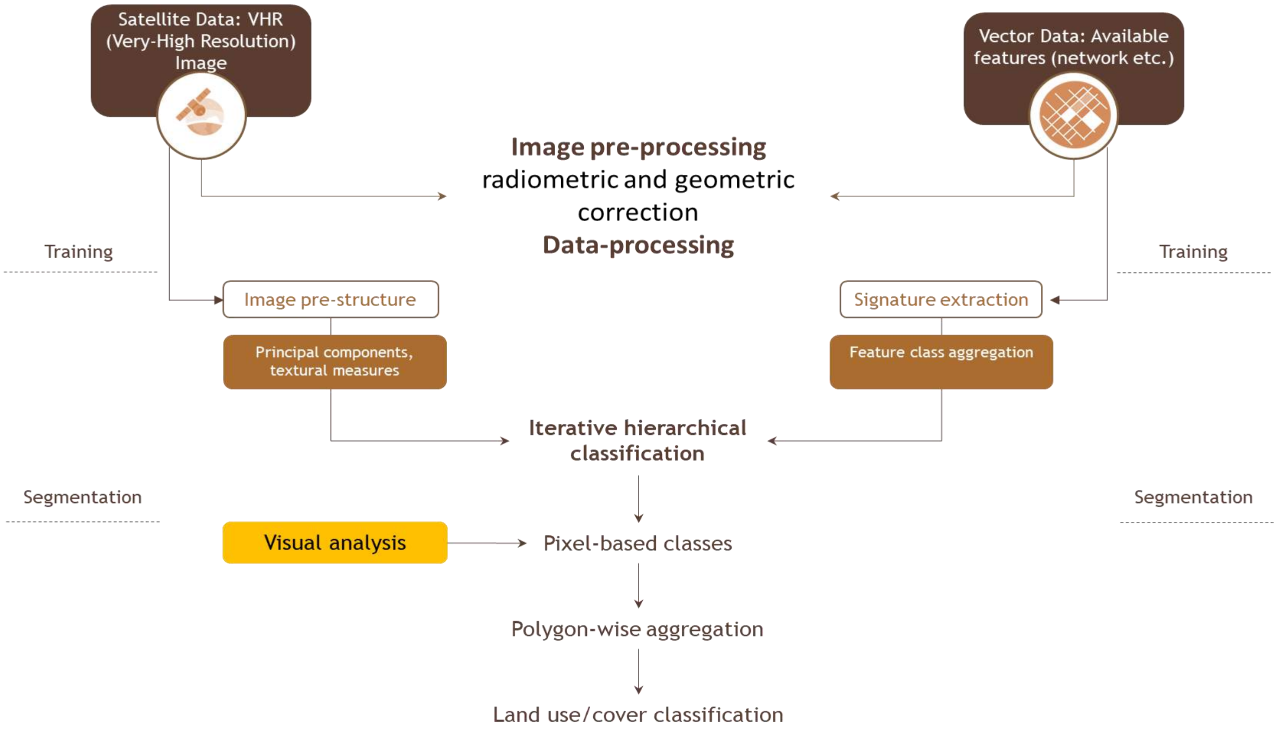
8.1 | Per capita availability of green spaces

5.1 | Number of streets, public places, junctions covered through surveillance systems

9.1 | Share of mixed land use area in overall city land use

9.2 | Net Density

For these indicators, we will be undertaking validation of the secondary data provided by cities through visual analysis using satellite and vector data. Figure below presents our approach:



Satellite Data: VHR (Very-High Resolution) Image
Vector Data: Available features (network etc.)

Land use/cover classification

Indicators under Category C merit physical validation in the field to strengthen reliability of the indicators. Preliminary review of the indicators suggest that physical validation exercises would need to be carried out for 11 indicators. Figure below presents our sampling approach:

Indicator	Validation approach
2.3 | Hotel occupancy	Total 35 hotels; 5 star (5 hotels); 4 star (10 hotels), 3 star (10 hotels) less than 3 star (10 hotels) randomly in each city
3.4 | Percentage of schools with access to digital education	Randomly select 40 schools for validation in each city
5.1| Number of streets, public places, junctions covered through surveillance systems	Inspect 30 major public places and junctions in each city, randomly
6.5 | Percentage of vendors registered and provided formal spaces	Randomly select 30 street vendors in each city
11.7 | Availability of Passenger Information System	Select 30 interchange sites- bus depots/stations, metro or suburban rail stations and water transport terminals (e.g. ferry terminal), randomly
11.8 | Extent of signal synchronization	Randomly select 30 signalized intersections in each city
11.9 | Availability of paid parking spaces	Select 30 paid parking spaces, randomly in each city
11.10 | Percentage coverage of footpaths – wider than 1.2 m	Select 30 footpath sections across major roads, randomly in each city
11.11 | Percentage of traffic intersections with pedestrian crossing facilities	Select 30 intersections randomly in each city
11.12 | Extent to which universal accessibility is incorporated in public rights-of-way	Select 30 public right-of-way areas to represent areas such as Government buildings, sidewalks/ footpaths, subways/city
14.3 | Extent of municipal solid waste recovered through reuse	Random selection and visits of recovery/re-use sites in each city

Categories D and E call for collecting data from households and households plus institutional and commercial entities such as schools, public offices etc. Category D covers four indicators while Category E covers one indicator as presented below. We propose to undertake a survey of about 400 households in each of the 116 cities for both these categories. For Category C, 400 households will be spread across different socio-economic strata of respective cities and for Category D, 200 households will cover only low-income urban communities (notified slums) in each city.

Category D

Indicator	Validation approach
7.2 | Percentage of slum areas covered through basic services	Random sampling of 200 citizens across ten notified slums in each city
11.3 | Mode share of public transport	Random sampling of 400 citizens across different socio-economic strata in each city
11.6 | Mode share of non-motorized transport	Random sampling of 400 citizens across different socio-economic strata in each city
14.1 | Household level coverage of municipal solid waste collection	Random sampling of 400 citizens across different socio-economic strata in each city

Category E

Indicator	Validation approach
13.1 | Coverage of toilets	Random sampling of 400 respondents It would cover households, schools, public institutions, commercial establishments, etc. per city

Indicators where data is not available will be excluded from computation from the liveability index in line with the suggested methodology

Methodology for sample determination

For arriving at the sample size for this study, we have treated the present research problem as a Case of Proportions, i.e., a problem involving the estimation of the proportion of respondents exhibiting a certain kind of behaviour (in our case, proportion of households who have access to safe drinking water). In a Case of Proportions, the sample size is determined as under:

Let the sample size be n. The various assumptions made in calculating n is as under:

p is the proportion of the households (our universe in the project area) having benefited from the various urban mission. This proportion p is called the population proportion. In the absence of any estimate of p, a figure of 50 per cent could be used for the anticipated population proportion.

π is the proportion of the sample having benefited from the urban missions. This proportion π is called the sample proportion. π is obviously a dichotomous variable (a dichotomous variable is one which has only two response choices, such as "Yes, benefited from the urban mission " and "No, did not benefit from the urban mission")

E is the allowable error, i.e., the allowable difference between p and π while drawing the sample. We have fixed this 5 percent say 0.05

Z is the number of standard errors associated with the confidence level. The confidence level is fixed at 95 per cent, i.e., the pre-assigned chance of finding the true population proportion p to be within the range of ($\pi \pm 1.96s$), where, s is the standard deviation of the sampling distribution.

At a confidence level of 95 percent, the value of Z is 1.96. The estimated sample size n is worked out based of the below formula.

$$n = \frac{\pi (1 - \pi) Z^2}{E^2}$$

$$n = \frac{0.5 (1 - 0.5) 1.96^2}{0.05^2}$$

Thus, sample size n works out to 384. Considering the possibility of non-availability and non-consent of the beneficiaries, about 5 per cent additional sample is proposed. With this allowance, the sample size works out to 400 per city.

A total of about 400 respondents will be covered from each city. Given that there are 116 cities to be covered in 1st year, the total sample size works out to minimum 46,400 respondents. This is a minimum sample size needed if we want the observed proportions (π) to be within ±5 percent of the unknown population proportion (p).

Approach for geospatial sampling:

We propose to select our survey respondents based on a geospatial sampling methodology after evaluating the spread of the city under multiple criteria. The table shown below is an illustration of our approach towards rating each of the wards in the city. It is to be noted that any ward is likely to receive the score based on the presence of the criterion mentioned in each of the question (for eg: Presence of park/playground in the ward = 4.5%, else = 0). The scores obtained against each of these questions will be summed to provide ward level total score. It is to be noted that “slums” have been given a special attention to ensure social inclusion in our geospatial sampling methodology.

Table 1: Sampling criteria

Questions	Answers	Score / Ward
List the wards having market area in your city?		4.5%
List the wards having tourist attraction places in your city?		5.0%
List the wards having schools in your city?		5.0%
List the wards having hospitals in your city?		5.0%
List the wards having parks / playgrounds in your city?		4.5%

List the wards having large commercial areas in your city?		4.5%
List the wards having proximity to industries in your city?		4.5%
List the wards having earthen roads in your city?		4.5%
List the wards having footpath in your city?		4.5%
List the wards having good road network connectivity in your city?		4.5%
List the wards having UGSS penetration in your city?		4.5%
List the wards having low incidence of crime in your city?		5.0%
List the wards having high population density in your city?		4.5%
Score (A)		65.0%

Questions	Answers	Score / Ward
List the wards having large slums in your city?		35.0%
Score (B)		35.0%

Based on the obtained total scores, wards will be shortlisted based on the following combination:

- Combo 1: Wards with larger slum population with higher livability characteristics
- Combo 2: Wards with fewer slum population with higher livability characteristics
- Combo 3: Wards with fewer slum population with lesser livability characteristics
- Combo 4: Wards with larger slum population with lesser livability characteristics

Within the shortlisted wards, about 33% of the primary survey (200 Surveys) will be conducted in wards having larger slum population. We would also ensure that the survey conducted within every ward will be well spread within the ward boundary to ensure representativeness of the entire city and this will be constantly monitored by the field officer through a mobile application.

Score (A)	SCORE (B)	Sample
High	High	200 SURVEYS
Low	High
Low	Low	400 SURVEYS

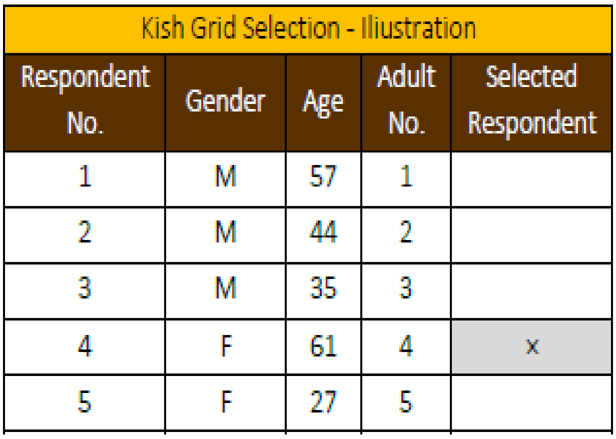
Sampling of Households

In each starting point 10 households(HH) will be covered for eliciting feedback about the various facilities available in the city. The first household shall be zth number household from a starting point. The second household will be (5+z)th household. This process should be continued till the time we achieve the sample size (10 HHs) for that particular starting point. During selection of household serpentine Right Hand Rule will be followed.

Sampling of respondents

Adult members of the sampled household, who are aged 18 and above would be considered as eligible respondents for the survey. Where ever there are more than on eligible respondent in the household KISH grid will be used for unbiased selection of the eligible respondent. The usage of KISH grid will also ensure the fair representation of both the gender in the sample. For the Indicator 7.2, percentage of slum areas covered through basic services, we propose a sample of 200 per city across 10 slums (as per list available with slum rehabilitation board).



Kish Grid Selection - Illustration

Respondent No.	Gender	Age	Adult No.	Selected Respondent
1	M	57	1
2	M	44	2
3	M	35	3
4	F	61	4	x
5	F	27	5

The slums will be selected using a simple random sampling from the available list. We will overlay this selection to ascertain the geographical spread across wards / zones in the city. The same process as outlined above will be followed for selection of HHs and individuals in the selected HH.

Overall sample size

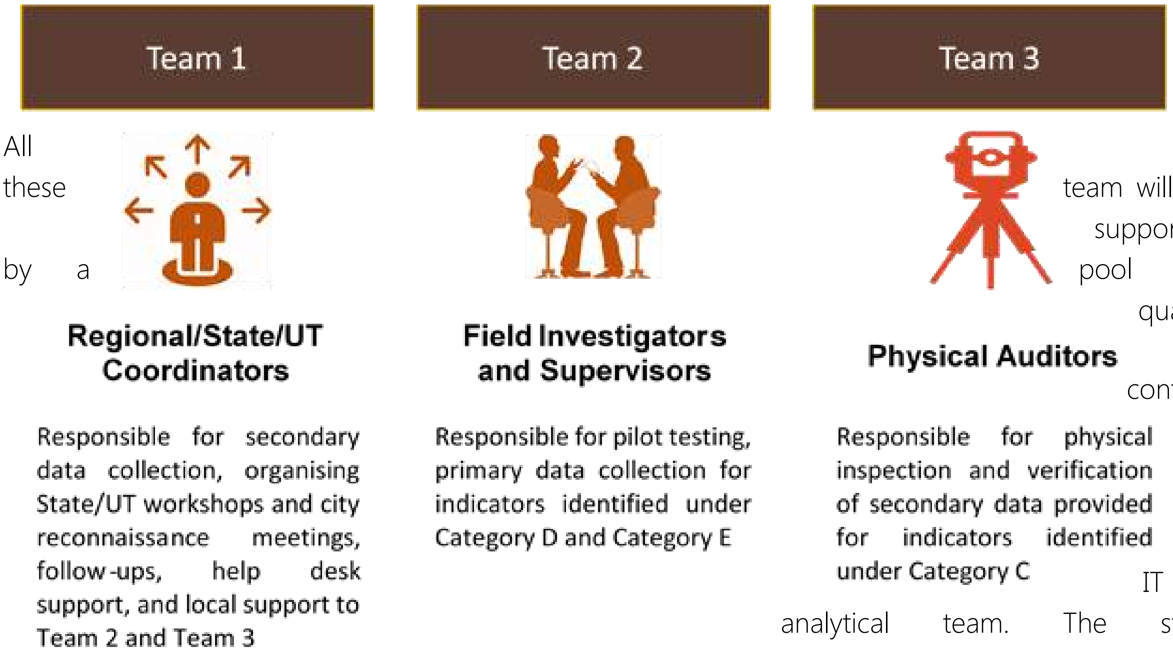
The total number of respondents to be covered as part of our primary data collection including physical audit across identified indicators is presented below:

Unit	Sample per city	No of cities	Total sample
HH survey/ Citizen (slum and non-slum)	600	116	69,600
Institutions- Hotels, Schools, Establishments	98	116	11,368
Physical validation through Observation	270	116	31,320
Total	968	116	1,12,288

Data collection team structure

Based on different categories of data to be collected/validated, three different teams will be working in tandem to collect the required data in time. First team comprises regional/state/UT coordinators who will be entrusted primarily with the responsibility of secondary data collection. Second team comprises field investigators and supervisors who will be involved in collection of primary data for indicators identified under Category D and Category E. The third team will include physical auditors who will be validate the reliability of secondary data provided by cities for indicators identified under Category C.

All these team will be supported by a pool of quality control, IT and analytical team. The state



Team 1

Regional/State/UT Coordinators

Responsible for secondary data collection, organising State/UT workshops and city reconnaissance meetings, follow-ups, help desk support, and local support to Team 2 and Team 3

Team 2

Field Investigators and Supervisors

Responsible for pilot testing, primary data collection for indicators identified under Category D and Category E

Team 3

Physical Auditors

Responsible for physical inspection and verification of secondary data provided for indicators identified under Category C

All teams will be supported by a centralised quality control, IT and technical backstopping team coordinators will serve as an additional layer of local support for guiding the field team on different aspects of primary data collection and physical validation.

Training of regional/state coordinators [secondary data collection]

We will conduct an internal brainstorming cum training session wherein the Regional/State Coordinators will participate and familiarise themselves with the assignment and modalities involved along with non-key staff/consultants. Subsequently, we will be conducting a three-day training programme for the Regional/State Coordinators and key city/ULB representative along the State/UT workshops. Training will cover secondary data collection interface/application, data formats including reporting period, reporting units, data collection process, escalation protocols, and ethical considerations among other modules. Subsequently, the Regional/State Coordinators with support from the PCC team will train field supervisors, investigators and physical auditors.

Research instrument development, pilot test and training [primary data collection]

The overall sampling strategy for categories indicated above will be finalised in consultation with MoHUA. Subsequently, the team will develop research instruments covering relevant indicators and target groups. Each of the research instrument will be pilot tested and finalised based on field level insights. Our consortium specialises in developing minimalistic instruments without losing coverage and rigour of data collection. To carry out the survey, the research instruments will be developed as mobile application such as ODK Collect or Kobo Tool Box that allows that cloud based storage of backend data and provides near analysis ready data.

We will explore using a computer-aided in-person interviewing (CAPI) methodology to collect data on Windows-based phones or tablets, which has numerous advantages over traditional pen-and-paper methods. The programmed instrument will have built-in logic that ensures the correct path through skip-patterns, doesn't allow interviewers to enter invalid responses to closed ended questions, and runs internal consistency checks.

Using CAPI enhances measurement quality, reduces error, and limits the need for editing and cleaning following data collection. For every interview, the exact GPS location is captured, which means that quality control departments can verify interviews are being performed at the correct locations. In addition, quotas are automatically tracked on the mobile device which reduces the need for manual tracking. We have invested significantly in enhancing our CAPI capacities both in terms of infrastructure and human capacity. Ipsos has a well-trained pool of interviewers that are familiar with quality processes for CAPI interviews and used to close scrutiny and rigor of monitoring. Our expert data team will program the survey, after which extensive quality checks will be carried out by the Ipsos team. We will then run sample cases through the survey to test for logic and skip patterns. Following the completion of programming in English, we will overlay the translated instruments and additional quality checks on all translations will be done. The programmed instrument will be downloaded to the Phone/Tablet devices to be used by interviewers.

The research instruments will be translated in all relevant regional languages for all 116 cities. All translation will be checked by the researchers to ensure that the meaning of the questions has not

Our extensive experience conducting quantitative social research in a variety of fields has taught us that the questionnaire can be designed to maximise participation based on the following key principles:

Concise and well-structured survey design:	A short survey will get more responses than a long survey, and competing priorities can lead to very long questionnaires. It is important to focus on top priorities and understand key opinions while also being realistic both regarding length of survey but also respondent ability to report on certain items.
Questions are easy to answer:	Instruments that are difficult to complete lead to errors from the interviewer as well as the respondent. Although we provide extensive training to interviewers, complicated questions can be difficult to complete accurately. Additionally, we ensure that questions are drafted with as few clauses as possible, without double-negatives, and should include as comprehensive a range of answer options as possible.
Take into account the respondent's knowledge and sensitivities:	Sensitive questions, such financial questions or those about socially unacceptable behaviors (for instance open defecation), most often lead to inaccurate reporting and poor data because respondent over/under report or give the more socially acceptable answer.
Questions should allow respondents to not know:	Where respondents are forced to answer questions, they do not feel they know the answer to, they are likely to become frustrated and close the survey early. We therefore recommend that a "DK (Don't Know)/NA (Not Applicable)" option is always provided, particularly in sensitive environments.
Allow respondents to feel heard without burdening them unduly:	Limit open-ended questions to one to two and do not require respondents to fill them out. Additionally, a confusing screener or imprecise definitions of the target respondent can take a lot of time and lead to errors in data collection.

Additionally, we will ensure that questions used are tested and used as a standard. We will also have all survey instruments undergo a thorough review by sociologists and psychologists with expertise in instrument design, who will look to ensure the overall instrument and individual questions are structured in a way that is accessible to respondents (by, for instance, organizing the instrument logically and introducing new topics/question modules so that respondents are not confused about why they are being asked certain questions at a given point in the interview) and cognitively unambiguous (avoiding, for instance, questions where one question asks about multiple constructs).

changed while translating into regional languages. We propose to pre-test the questionnaire in two non-sampled areas in any two selected cities. The pre-testing of the questionnaires will be undertaken on the translated questionnaires. The pretesting will ensure the following aspects:

- Whether all the questions are comprehensible to the enumerator
- Whether the respondents have any difficulty in understanding the questions
- Whether the length of the questionnaire is optimum?
- Whether the questions ordered properly
- Whether any change is required in the questionnaire

Finally, it will help in fine tuning the questionnaire and to determine the flow of questions, to make life easy for the investigator as well as the respondent.

The final tool will be scripted and uploaded in all regional languages for the main survey. Ipsos internal platform i-field will be used for HH survey that brings in the advantage of GPS capture and audio recording as well as real time tracking of field work completion status

Approach to data collection:

Secondary data collection for cities will start immediately after culmination of State/UT workshop and subsequent training of key city/ULB representative through city level reconnaissance meetings. The launch date for cities will vary depending upon the workshop schedule and fixing of appointment for city level meetings in each State. In the mean-time we will update secondary data collection interface/application based on the inputs and suggestions provided by the State and city representative at the workshop. Progress of data collection will be monitored through an integrated dashboard (refer prototype presented in the section on preparatory phase activities). We propose to deploy a team of four field investigators, four physical auditors and one field supervisor per city to undertake primary data collection/audit exercise in each city. Overall 69 such teams will be deployed to complete primary data collection across 116 cities in 16 days' time. Our pool of enumerators is experienced in undertaking large surveys in the urban areas across different sectors and hand-held devices. We will be undertaking a three-day training programme at a regional level to familiarise our field team with project objectives, research instruments, sampling frame and survey ethics. We propose to involve the field team in pilot testing of the research instruments for field-based training and better understanding of the research instrument. Our experience in managing large-scale survey research assignments tells us that the successful organisation and management of an assignment such as this requires the following approach:

A national level presence: We will work through its own offices and teams in all states and Union Territories and will not outsource any part of the survey management or data collection task to any external supplier or vendor. This will ensure that data in each state is collected as per agreed protocols and quality norms. All our offices are manned by local teams that have a panel of interviewers and supervisors from the state/ districts that are familiar with the geography and local dialects.

Zonal hubs: The core project management team based in Delhi will be supported by zonal hub managers who will be Ipsos permanent staff – field managers with experience of managing large scale projects. These hubs will help the core team in all phases of the research process. Their contributions are particularly important while team mobilisation, making the route plan, translation in local languages, and managing the fieldwork. They will also provide valuable support at time-intensive stages of the project, such as script checking, fieldwork monitoring, and data checking. These zonal coordinators will operate under the guidance Central Project Team.

Centralised Training of Trainers: We will conduct centralised TOT for Zonal and State Managers to plan and implement the fieldwork. The training will be for 4 days including field visits to ensure that field managers are familiar with the field situations, exposed to potential challenges, and have a thorough understanding of research subject. Emphasis will also be on imparting them facilitation and risk assessment skills required for managing the survey.

Multi-disciplinary expert teams, with resource at the right level to ensure value for money: The organisation and implementation requires expertise in sampling, scripting, and strong operations, but also proven skills in co-ordination, rigorous analysis of quantitative data, high quality reporting skills, as well as relevant experience in the states. Given the scale of this project, there are certain stages that are resource and time intensive, and we know that it is important to maximise the skills of resources to ensure value for money, with senior oversight. We propose a very strong core team together based on their multi-disciplinary skills. In addition, all offices will be supported through layers of reporting by the respective functions- operations, research, and IT for monitoring completion of the survey and reviewing completes.

Fieldwork monitoring procedures

This section details PCC Team monitoring responsibilities prior to and during the survey implementation to guarantee timely delivery of the project, while maintaining high quality. There will be several standard monitoring actions undertaken by the PCC-Team prior to and throughout the fieldwork:

- Providing state offices with guidelines on managing fieldwork and checking that these guidelines are correctly implemented;
- A dedicated fieldwork manager will be appointed in each state and will be responsible for receiving and reviewing the weekly resource planning of its state.
- Project executives from the PCC Team will also review daily progress and sample reports (and outcomes) and share their observations with the state teams, following up where necessary.

The quality control plan envisages quality check mechanisms at the at the data collection level as discussed below.

Table 2: Structure for Quality Checks in the Field

Level of staff	Functions in quality check
Field Investigators	Data Collection
Field Supervisors	100% scrutiny & accompaniments
Core and research support team	25% scrutiny, overall field monitoring and quality checks

1. Spot check and observation

In a spot check, the supervisor will attend an interview along with the investigator, to see if the investigator is comfortable with the flow of the questionnaire, is explaining the questions as they should be and is recording the responses correctly. The following forms a part of the spot checks and observation process to be adhered by the Supervisor:

- Observe some of the interviews, to ensure that the interviewers are conducting themselves well, asking the questions in the right manner, and interpreting the answers correctly
- Spot check some of the addresses selected for interviewing to be sure the interviewers interviewed the right household
- Review the questionnaire to be sure it is complete and is internally consistent
- Meet with each member of the team on a daily basis to discuss performance
- Help to solve any problems that interviewer might have with finding assigned households, understanding the concepts in the questionnaire or with difficult respondents.

2. Back checks

Field supervisors shall ensure that for all sampled areas wherein completion rate is found to be low or seems to be a problem, back checks shall be done by himself/supervisor of other team.

3. Inbuilt Quality Control

The manually filled in questionnaires have a risk of manual errors which would be eliminated completely at the software development process. The following checks would be inbuilt within the questionnaire design:

- Range Checks: To make sure that an entered number is within the right range. For example; a field indicating month cannot be more than 12.
- Consistency Checks: To make sure that the information entered is consistent and there are no errors. These checks are important for open ended questions.

- Validation Checks: To check that the data type entered is valid as per the design of the questionnaire. For example, age cannot be entered as an alphabetical value.
- Skip Checks: To make sure that the question is chosen logically correctly based on a previously answered question.

Ethical Considerations

Following three categories of ethical norms advocated by our consortium will be adhered to by all project staff:

Integrity

- The staff on payroll or contract always demonstrates honesty, integrity, and professionalism at all times.
- The team understands and appreciates that, while primary data represents attributes of real people, the actual person is not described in the reports.
- The staff is aware of applicable statutes, regulations, practices, and ethical standards governing data collection and reporting.
- The team reports information accurately and without bias.
- The team is accountable, and holds others accountable, for ethical use of data.

Data Quality

- The team promotes data quality by adhering to best practices and operating standards.
- The team provides all relevant data, definitions, and documentation to promote comprehensive understanding and accurate analysis when releasing information.

Security

- The team treats data systems as valuable organizational assets and hence data backup is a mandatory affair.
- The team safeguards sensitive data to guarantee privacy and confidentiality as our servers are accessible to limited staff only.

Within the ambit of the above ethical norms, the team for this assignment would ensure that no violations like collecting data not pertaining to this assignment, accessing areas within the institution premises for which approval has not been taken etc. are committed during the data procurement from various institutions.

The team would also ensure that any data which may have been classified as confidential is not disclosed intentionally or unintentionally. Any other issues that may emerge during the course of the assignment, will be informed to the client and as per the advice given, necessary safeguards would be undertaken by the consultants.

Real time access to status of fieldwork/ online monitoring: Efficient and fast communication is a pre-requisite for any survey these days to identify problems early on and introduce mid-course corrections. Ipsos globally and in India is transitioning away from PAPI to use of CAPI which helps addresses some of the inherent challenges of PAPI survey in terms of quality and reporting. CAPI will allow the core team to get daily updates across all centres. A dedicated project management team will monitor completes and review trends in data to review that the interviews are being conducted as planned and the quality of interviews is good. CAPI allows us to capture GPS coordinates that is useful in tracking spread of locations for the interviews and ascertain that the sampling protocols are followed, facility to record part of interviews, and capture photograph with consent of respondents provide additional levels of quality checks.

The research team will assess the minimum quality check requirements that can be drawn from CAPI and implement for the survey. We will also schedule regular hub conference calls at key stages of the project can help disseminate essential information, and that hub managers and junior members of the core coordination team are in daily written/telephone contact with field managers.

Phase 4: Data collation, sign-off and finalisation [Week13 – Week 14]

Once we receive secondary data, validated secondary data and primary data we will collate these into a single format and share them back with the cities post detailed scrutiny and review with proper citation. It is possible that there could be some variation in the secondary data provided by cities vis-à-vis data validated for some of the indicators identified under Category C. For instance, data from City A may report 80% of the schools to have facilities for using digital content but physical validation exercise could report 70%. Such variations are possible even after due consideration of aspects such as sampling only from sub-set of schools reported to have such facilities, random selection of schools etc. We will be developing protocols for addressing such issues during the preparatory phase itself and will work closely with the State Nodal Officer who will also serve as the data ombudsman to help reconcile such deviations.

Overall, each city will have a window of two weeks to review the final data sets and indices and revise/modify and sign-off on their datasets. Post sign-off, we will finalise the datasets (considering receipt of new data from cities during the two-week review window) and develop final indices for report preparation and visualisation.

Phase 5: City Assessment Reports, Media and dissemination [Week 15 – Week 20]

This phase involves preparation and submission of city wise final assessment reports and dissemination of the assessment through a national workshop. The structure and content of the report will be standardised across different city typologies and finalised in consultation with the MoHUA on an iterative basis. An illustrative report template is presented below for reference.

Data availability and quality assessment framework

Cities typically lack the ability and the institutional mechanisms to reliably collect data. Datasets which have internal decision-making linkages are usually better reported than datasets reported solely for compliance purposes. Hence, both criticality and reliability of datasets is not homogenous, but specific to each indicator, and possibly jurisdiction. In this context, we present a rubric to help assess quality and reliability of datasets below:

Table 3: Rubric for Data Quality Assessment

No.	Indicator	Notes
Data Quality and Reliability		Designed to provide an overview of the availability and quality of the dataset in discussion. Calculated as a combination of five sub parameters below
A	Availability	Measure of whether the dataset is available at all. A multiplicative factor (in case data on the indicator is not available, the data quality/availability is given a score of zero, without any further investigation into other sub areas)
B	Open access	Measure of the open availability of the dataset in question. Incorporates both user access (which user groups is the data made available to), nature of access (open access, or access upon request), and the format of availability (paper vs. machine readable formats)
C	Representativeness	In case the collected data is through a sample, this captures the representativeness of the same. A measure of robustness of the sampling and estimation methodology
D	Frequency	Measures the gap between the desired frequency of reporting for the dataset (based on global standards and best practices) with the available frequency. It is important to note that the frequency of datasets is a function of their mutability (e.g. topographic information can be decadal, but toilet usage behaviours warrant more frequent data)
E	Granularity	Measures disaggregation at two levels – by spatial characteristics and user characteristics
F	Reliability	Measure of mechanisms available to audit the data, and the results of such audits. A proxy to the level of confidence which users typically have for the dataset, third party validation etc.

Based on the insights from the data collection exercise pertaining to sectoral and city level data ecosystems, we will develop a data availability and quality assessment framework considering the above parameters.

We propose a multi-pronged platform for dissemination of the assessment of the liveability status of the cities. Apart from a national level workshop proposed by the MoHUA to share the findings from the study and set the stage for a futuristic vision wherein the information generated as part of this country wide exercise could inform urban planning, we propose to disseminate the findings to a larger global audience by leveraging our outreach capacities. Overall our media and dissemination channels include the following:

The Economist FILMS
THE Hub

National workshop | The Hub @ The Economist | Policy Briefs | Blogs/Articles

The National workshop could be structured as a panel discussion comprising international and national experts from academia, industries, public authorities, media, civil societies to discuss and debate the concept and measurement of urban liveability and its role in urban and infrastructure planning. City level liveability assessment could be presented on the sidelines of the workshop while the focus would be to help understand how people (and special groups thereof such as women, transgenders, children, specially-abled, senior citizens etc.) assess quality of life, wellbeing and citizen aspirations, and translate and scale them to inform how cities and regional centres can be better designed and managed.

Agenda of National Workshop

- To drive new knowledge development into the interaction of assets, people and networks across critical aspects of the infrastructure system.
- To invite activity and creativity in knowledge development on infrastructure and infrastructure planning and management in the future

Specific focus could be on defining conditions under which scientific models can encapsulate adaptive and heterogeneous social responses in a meaningful way.

We propose to keep the dissemination as an ongoing activity through a series of engaging and interactive content assets designed for marketing and dissemination such as infographics, photo journals covering State/UT workshops, city reconnaissance missions and data visualisation tools under the Ministry's name both before and after the National workshop.

It is proposed that the liveability assessment results could be housed on 'The Hub' – a prestigious online knowledge dissemination platform of the Economist Group that has global outreach. Our team would design the hub and finalise the design in consultation with MoHUA. The Liveability Index Hub would host policy briefs, two interviews from senior officials/policy makers from the MoHUA, infographics and an interactive digital data map of India containing assessment results. Each of the 116 cities will contain the liveability index for that city, its ranking, as well as the rankings for the four underlying pillars of liveability for each city.

Quality Assurance

We provide high quality of services are committed to continuously improving what we do. Our integrated quality, compliance and information security management system, along with our quality assurance guidelines ensures all our projects are delivered to quality standards that we are committed to. Ipsos is ISO 20252 certified company for both research and field (Enclosed Certification) that requires that all processes are carried out in accordance with standards laid out in ISI 20252:2012. Athena and EIU serve reputed clients globally.

Our Quality Objectives

Our most important quality objectives are:

- To provide assurance to Ipsos's clients that we will deliver reliable and robust research findings by, among other measures, meeting the requirements of the international quality standard for market research, ISO 20252.
- To support the business in meeting its overall objectives, including client retention and new business development – by having effective policies, procedures and practices in place to ensure that we all work to the same quality standards.
- To minimise risk to the business by focussing on quality and continuous improvement.

We achieve these objectives by having in place a Quality Assurance System which is continually reviewed for effectiveness and improvement in a number of ways:

At every step of the project, we will ensure the compliance with the standard working procedures and quality assurance methods that have been designed for the success of the project. Online data input and collection platforms will be very powerful tools that will enable the PCC (Project Command Centre) Team to have tighter control over research process, accurate and up-to date information about state teams' performance and more efficient fieldwork monitoring and quality control. In addition to this, many standard procedures, such as training, supervision and back checking, will be put in place to ensure quality standards are adhered to (and exceeded where appropriate).

Throughout this proposal we discuss the measures we will take to ensure high quality deliverables which will meet the objectives of the study. They are summarised here in brief:

- Carefully resourced and structured Coordination Team with the relevant skills and experience to design and deliver international studies of this nature including regional social research experts;
- Internal field teams that are part of Ipsos State offices who are familiar with the geography, local dialect, nuances, and experienced in working to expected quality standard.
- Cascading training approach starting with ToT for core team, Centralised State Coordinators training and state level face to face trainings for validation and primary survey
- Direct observation of interviewer training and the early stages of fieldwork in each zone;
- Using Ipsos Dimensions/ Dooblo platform to closely monitor progress and quality indicators across all states allowing any issues to be identified early (daily updates from the field);
- Weekly conference calls with all local teams to discuss the current situation and with MoUHA to assess actual progress and make key decisions for the next steps;
- A detailed risk register updated on a weekly basis;
- At least 15% of back-checks in states;
- A dedicated Quality Director assigned to the project team.

Our approach to minimising problems

As outlined above, we are keen to properly set up this study to minimise problems and risks during execution. In addition, effective project management using an experienced PCC Team with the correct balance of technical expertise and project management expertise means that problems are avoided through clear instruction, regular and open communication, and careful monitoring and review during the project set-up and throughout project implementation. However, we know that even with the best teams in place the complexities of large-scale projects mean that problems do arise, and sometimes quick and effective intervention is needed. We are determined to be proactive and set up the process in a way it will enable us to detect any problem in an early phase and solve it before it escalates.

As a consortium responsible for implementing the project, we regard risk management as a key part of project management. We will put in place a risk management process because we know from experience that management of a survey such as this involves dealing with many logistical challenges, complexities and risks.

We are keen to discuss with you all potential risks in the inception meeting and to register all issues we might experience during the process. This will be a 'live' document, reviewed weekly throughout the project both internally and with you. As Project Co-ordinators, Ankit and Tripti, will retain overall responsibility for risk management, will work with the Technical Team and functional to find solutions if any aspect of the project is deemed at risk.

We would provide a full assessment of what we believe to be the most important risks to the successful completion of the project. This would constitute a starting point for further discussion with MoHUA. Below we have provided an initial assessment of what we believe to be the most important risks to the successful completion of the project.

Key risks and mitigation plan

Risk description	Probability	Impact	Mitigation Plan
Delays in finalizing the schedule for state workshops	Low	High	An intense preparatory phase has been outlined wherein co-ordination with the state mission directorates is expected to begin within the first week of the inception kick-off meeting at MoHUA. A detailed workshop schedule will be developed within the first week of project commencement and a discussion will be initiated early on to fix the dates and finalize and publish the workshop calendar.
Inconsistency in the way data is interpreted and entered by cities	High	High	There is a possibility that the city representatives might interpret the data entry requirement in a manner inconsistent with the required protocol. In addition, to an intensive training session, where cities will be apprised of the data requirements, data sources and entry protocols, the regional and state co-ordinators will be responsible for both auditing the way in which the presented data is being sourced and troubleshooting if there are discrepancies
Delays in data entry by the city	Medium	High	Given the very short timelines of the exercise, any delays in data entry by the city can have serious cascading effects on the overall timelines of the programme. In addition to close follow up that the consulting team will undertake with every city, we hope to co-ordinate closely with the state nodal officer (appointed in every state) to ensure that cities comply with the stated timelines
Challenges in reconciling physical audit data with secondary data	High	High	There is a possibility of discrepancy between the audited data outcomes and the self-reported data. To seamlessly resolve and respond to such instances, we hope to jointly set up a process in place in consultation with MoHUA representatives and the state missions right at the outset and inform cities of the same during the training workshop
Challenge securing	Medium	High	Ipsos' has local teams who has experience of working in the project cities so they are familiar with the process for permissions for research			seeking consent for interviewing. As per our experience of seeking permission for interviews in different officials , a formal letter from client side will be issued to the local office. A senior team member will visit the offices with the letter for prior consent. assuring confidentiality and seek their inputs on timings, accessibility to respondents.

Poor administration of questionnaire by the data collection team	Medium	High	Qualified and experienced field investigators will be recruited. The training programme (face to face) will be intensive and focus on all aspects of the study, sensitisation for self on issues of gender, being aware of implicit biases, and tips on being aware and to counter this bias during data collection. Levels of monitoring in form of accompaniment by supervisors will also facilitate identifying interviewers demonstrating any bias and take corrective measures.
Fieldwork delays- Citizen Surveys and Physical Validation	Medium	Low	At the planning stage, Ipsos local team will review the list of selected clusters for the survey and their geographical spread. Number of teams will be recruited based on the geographical spread of sample locations. The field movement plan will be developed to ensure that a team covers contiguous clusters minimizing travel. The plan will also include off days and travel days with buffer days that allows timely completion.
Challenges in physical validation and primary data collection	Low	High	Quality Assurance plan developed at the onset of fieldwork preparation will detail out the measures and process at each stage of planning and fieldwork to ensure quality. Beginning with training, field plan, and field monitoring detailed parameters of quality and process to monitor the same will be detailed. Each team working will be accompanied by a supervisor and will be monitored daily. Additional layers of

More over the state coordinators will be in continuous coordination with zonal coordinators. Formats for monitoring will be developed that will focus on reviewing the interviews and interviewers' performance. Regular debriefs and feedback sessions will be led by field coordinator and state coordinators during fieldwork
Inconsistency in data collected	Medium	High	Field investigators when administering paper survey are prone to making mistakes in following the flow and may not check responses that seem inconsistent. To counter this, we propose using CAPI for administration. The scripting process will take care of the logic and consistency check and improve the quality of interviews.
Refusal of respondents to take part / high non-response rate	Low	High	All interviewers will be fully briefed on how to deal with refusal. They will be trained to reassure the respondent that the research is independent, that all information provided is confidential, and to emphasize the survey's short length and the importance of the topics it covers. Interviewer training will stress the importance of confidentiality, safety and ethical aspects of the survey. Reasons for refusal will be recorded so any potential issues can be identified early and resolved.
Issues related to data quality and storage	Low	High	The Ipsos Team adheres to the highest possible standards for market research set by European Society for Opinion and Market Research (ESOMAR) and has been awarded numerous certifications for quality in market research, ensuring data security, confidentiality, and participant safety. Ipsos data storage is audited annually as part of our ISO 27001 and 20252 accreditations.

B. Work Plan

Our approach to this assignment seeks to fully leverage the first 5 weeks of the project as a phase of intensive preparation where all the key templates, tools and formats for secondary and primary data collection will be developed and submitted for inputs and approval to MoHUA. This will allow us time to deliberate on the data collection instruments as well as the interface design and ensure that we pilot test the prototypes to ensure that the entire data entry process is hassle free for the city. Efforts will also be made to mine and integrate the secondary data sets collected through different programmes (Smart City Mission, AMRUT, HRIDAY etc.) and already available with the ministry to create 'pre-filled' instruments (with the source indicated) that may be validated by the cities.

Developing the indicators (defining specific data points to be collected) and ensuring that there are bespoke data collection protocols and sources will be lead by the team by drawing on international benchmarks and national standards.

This phase will also see us commence engagements with state mission directorates to ensure that the scheduling of workshops is in line with the stated timelines. A draft structure for every workshop, with the list of participants required/desired, will be circulated within a week of the inception kick off with MoHUA to give the state mission directorates enough time to plan and mobilize resources. The training material with supporting reading material will be circulated at least 1 week before the training commences to provide participants with enough preparation time. State level discussions will also serve as a channel to do a first level reconnaissance on data availability and map the current sources and the need for proxies. Draft frameworks for documenting the workshop proceedings and the city level assessment reports will also be developed during this phase, along with an internal training workshop for the core staff.

Another unique value proposition that this team brings to the table is an effective global and national media and dissemination strategy and real-time tracking system to closely monitor the progress of the assignment. The blueprint for the media strategy and the tracking system will also be developed and submitted for inputs with the MoHUA in the preparatory phase.

Phase 1: Deliverables

This phase will culminate with the following deliverables at end of 5 weeks from project commencement:

1) Indicator development
2) Data collection instruments (primary and secondary)
3) Data entry portal (secondary)- Beta version
4) Blueprint for media strategy and project progress tracking
5) Workshop structure, content and participant list
6) Draft templates for workshop proceedings and city reports
7) Training of core staff (Key Consultants, Regional Co-ordinators and State Co-ordinators)
8) Framework for city GDP measurement

Phase 2, which is expected to last 3 weeks, will commence with the launch of the 'Liveability Tracker' and will see the roll out of the state workshops and city reconnaissance visit, led by a team of 20 trained professionals. The training of the field staff (field supervisors and enumerators) will also be conducted during this phase. The key outcomes/deliverables envisaged under this phase include:

Phase 2: Deliverables

1. State workshop and city-reconnaissance reports
2. Finalization of data entry interface and collection protocols based on feedback from cities
3. Updation of the Liveability Tracker
4. Dissemination of the workshop interactions and outcomes through social media

Much of the actual data collection is expected to be undertaken in phase 3, which will be for a period of 4 weeks, and will be backed by a team of market research professionals and analysts who will perform real time QC checks on the quality of data that is generated and aggregated at the back-end. The core consulting staff alongside the network of state and regional coordinators will work closely with the cities and the field staff to trouble shoot on questions/clarifications through a network of help-desks and work towards encouraging cities to complete data collection over a period of 10 days. This phase will also see the commencement of the primary surveys and physical validation, which will be closely supervised with strong QC checks. Unique geo-spatial sampling methods will be deployed to ensure that we capture citizen feedback in the context of different geo-spatial incident conditions and 600 citizens (with 33% of the sample concentrated in slums) will be interviewed in every city. Open data that is spatial will also be leveraged to validate certain data sets in combination with physical audits of a random set of units. The key deliverables in this phase include:

Phase 3: Deliverables

1. Sampling plan for citizen surveys
2. Raw data sets

Each city will be given an opportunity to review the final data sets in detail and sign off on the same in phase 4. Reconciliation between self-reported and audited data if any will commence in this phase and the index will be developed and the cities will be ranked based on the formula. The draft and final city assessment reports will also be prepared in this phase over an 8-week period and submitted for approval to MoHUA.

Phase 4: Deliverables

1. Ranking List
2. Draft and final city assessment reports
3. Updated online tracker/portal
4. Social media dissemination

Phase 5, which is likely to last 4 weeks, will involve creating a dedicated economist portal with the findings of the study to be disseminated to a global audience and will culminate with a national workshop where the experience and the findings of the exercise are shared with all the cities and other key stakeholders. Special focus on the use-case applications of this process and alignment with national and global programs and specific opportunities to strengthen data interoperability and quality will be discussed.

Phase 5: Deliverables

IV. Appendices

APPENDIX A– TERMS OF REFERENCE

7.1 Background

i. The Government of India along with State and Local Governments is implementing several flagship Urban Missions for improving various aspects of urban development in Indian cities. An underlying goal of these initiatives is to make Indian cities more 'Liveable'. This will mean not only providing good quality core infrastructure and services, but also developing cities with ample opportunities for work, entertainment and cultural activities, improved social infrastructure and economic opportunity;

ii. In order to do this through a structured approach it is important to create a common minimum framework, which cities can use to assess their 'Liveability' and measure their progress over time. In this context, the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs has developed a set of 'Liveability Standards in Cities'. These will act as a guiding framework for cities to chart their pathway towards liveability and result in a systematic improvement in the quality of life of citizens in Indian cities. The draft 'Liveability Standards in Cities' as at http://smartcities.gov.in/upload/uploadfiles/files/LiveabilityStandards.pdf ;

iii. A total of 79 different Liveability Standards are proposed across 15 different categories. The Ministry proposes to conduct an 'Annual Assessment of Liveability in Cities' across the various standards and develop a 'City Liveability Index' – an annual index of the liveability standards in Indian cities. This is an ambitious national project requiring yearly compilation of a large number of datasets across the various Liveability Standards;

iv. A total of 116 cities will be covered in Year 1 (list of cities for Year 1 is provided at Annexure A), and the coverage of cities may be extended in subsequent years. The following classification of cities will be used for the purpose of the study

Classification*		Population range

2	Medium Towns	Population ≥ 50,000 < 5 lakh
3	Large Towns	Population ≥ 5 lakh < 1 million
4	Metropolitan Cities	Population ≥ 1 million < 5 million

5	Megapolis	Population ≥ 5 million

V. Given the magnitude of data collection and field surveys required, the MoHUA wishes to engage the services of a reputed national/international agency/institution for Conducting a study and field survey of Liveability Standards (the 'Assignment') across all cities included in the study. This will cover all relevant data required by the MoHUA for computing the 79 Liveability Standards. The data generated from the assignment will be used by the MoHUA for calculating the City Liveability Index of cities on an annual basis;

India is the largest producer of fruits and second largest producer of vegetables in the world. In spite of this per capita availability of fruits and vegetables is quite low due to lack of proper facilities of storage & transportation. It is estimated that between 25 % and 30 % of fruits and vegetables are wasted. Additional loss takes place due to deterioration in the quality of fresh produce by the time it reaches the end consumer. The development of cold storage industry has therefore an important role to play in reducing the wastages of the perishable commodities and thus providing remunerative prices to the farmers as well as better quality fruits and vegetables to the consumer.

The Govt., has now decided to conduct a comprehensive all India study, through a reputed private organization with adequate infrastructure, technology and domain to get primary data on the capacity, technology and common practices used at cold stores.

This study will gather primary base line data on the following aspects of cold chain infrastructure development and its management viz.,

Declared Installed Capacity (Number and Capacity as declared on records)

• Price stability is one of the prime objectives of monetary policy. Both theoretical considerations and empirical evidence suggest that inflation expectations are a crucial ingredient for monetary policy.
• Measures of inflation expectations are therefore important to central banks to achieve their mandate towards price stability. In order to achieve their mandate for low and stable inflation, central banks seek to gain knowledge about the public expectations for inflation, in addition to the financial market based measures.

Narrative description of Project:

India is the largest producer of fruits and second largest producer of vegetables in the world. In spite of this per capita availability of fruits and vegetables is quite low due to lack of proper facilities of storage & transportation. It is estimated that between 25 % and 30 % of fruits and vegetables are wasted. Additional loss takes place due to deterioration in the quality of fresh produce by the time it reaches the end consumer. The development of cold storage industry has therefore an important role to play in reducing the wastages of the perishable commodities and thus providing remunerative prices to the farmers as well as better quality fruits and vegetables to the consumer.

The Govt., has now decided to conduct a comprehensive all India study, through a reputed private organization with adequate infrastructure, technology and domain to get primary data on the capacity, technology and common practices used at cold stores.

This study will gather primary base line data on the following aspects of cold chain infrastructure development and its management viz.,

Declared Installed Capacity (Number and Capacity as declared on records)

- Storage capacity
- Manpower capacity
- Refrigeration capacity

Usability (whether existing Infra is usable as per declared intent)

Supply Chain integration (integration with other post harvest activities)

- Preconditioning zones – Pre-coolers, chillers
- Transit storage – buffer store capacity, adjoining or separate, mobile or static cooler
- Mother storage – linkage, outsourced or in-house
- Presence of Association and Affiliations to give voice and business

Technology

- Identify the type of technology used for the cooling equipment, size and capacity
- Equipment type, model, cooling range and supplier details.
- Maintenance practices and
- Power sources

The survey is interactive with the facility ownership and management teams and is intended to collate data and responses to pre-approved questionnaires.

Besides listing ownership patterns and base identifying data, it is also leading to catalogue the existing status of cold chain development in the country and lead to data evaluation in categorized in terms of-

Location-wise development status

Subject: Certification showing CRISIL Risk and Infrastructure Solutions (CRIS) Ltd's experience in the assignment 'Project Monitoring and Reform Implementation Support'

This is to certify that CRISIL Risk and Infrastructure Solutions (CRIS) Ltd has been appointed by Pimpri Chinchwad Municipal Corporation (PCMC) for the assignment 'Project Monitoring and Reform Implementation Support' since June 2007 till date, year on year. The contract has been extended for one more year till 2015 and subsequently the work was tendered & awarded till March 2016. Annual fee of the consultancy services provided by CRIS Ltd is Rs. 105 lakhs with a total man-month input of 197. A brief scope of work and activities completed by CRIS during the assignment has been detailed below.

Assignment Brief

During 2006, when JnNURM was launched, CRISIL was appointed to prepare the City Development Plan of PCMC. The CDP estimated an overall investment requirement of Rs. 4416 Cr that will lead to desirable improvement in the basic services such as water supply, wastewater, municipal solid waste, roads and urban transport etc.

Initially, a total of 25 projects were sanctioned with investment outlay of Rs. 2930 Cr spread over seven years. Since, JNNURM is a reform linked program, PCMC had also committed to implement the reforms agenda as agreed through a tri-party agreement between GoI, GoM and PCMC. These reform commitments cover revenue improvement measures in the areas of property tax and user charges; accounting and e-governance; administrative reforms; and provision of basic services to the poor along with other reform measures for improving service delivery to citizens.

With the above backdrop, CRIS was appointed for assisting PCMC in planning and implementation of projects and committed reforms. To this end, CRIS set up a JnNURM cell (Project Implementation Unit) to provide day to day assistance to the PCMC officials. As part of the Assignment, following tasks were successfully completed by the CRIS team.

Project Implementation assistance for JNNURM UIG and BSUP projects

This task involved preparing project implementation plan, defining milestones, monitoring of project timelines to ensure timely completion of projects. Monthly and quarterly reporting of physical and financial progress of projects to the state as well as the central government. Streamlining intra and inter-department communication to ensure timely completion of projects.

Reform Implementation Support

Providing implementation assistance for all reforms committed under JNNURM i.e. property tax, accounting, service level benchmarking, e-governance, accounting, budgetary reforms, administrative and structural reforms, and provision of basic services to the poor etc.

Strengthening of Organisation Structure

CRIS helped the PCMC in organisation structure strengthening for two key services i.e. (i) water supply and sewerage and (ii) solid waste management.

For water supply services, CRIS undertook an assessment of the gaps in the existing water supply system, deficiencies in consumer data management, water billing, distribution and collection. CRIS proposed Interventions for improving the billing cycles, data management process and organisation restructuring. CRIS also undertook the bid process management for selection of operator for bill generation and distribution.

To improve the service levels of solid waste management services in the city, CRIS studied the deficiencies in existing system and suggested improvements in roles and responsibilities related to manpower management, operational planning, operation and maintenance costing. CRIS also undertook focused stakeholder consultations and developed a refined organisation structure. This new arrangement also focused upon utilising private sector services for efficiency in service provisioning. CRIS also assisted PCMC in procurement and appointment of private sector operator for SWM services.

Training & Capacity Development Plan

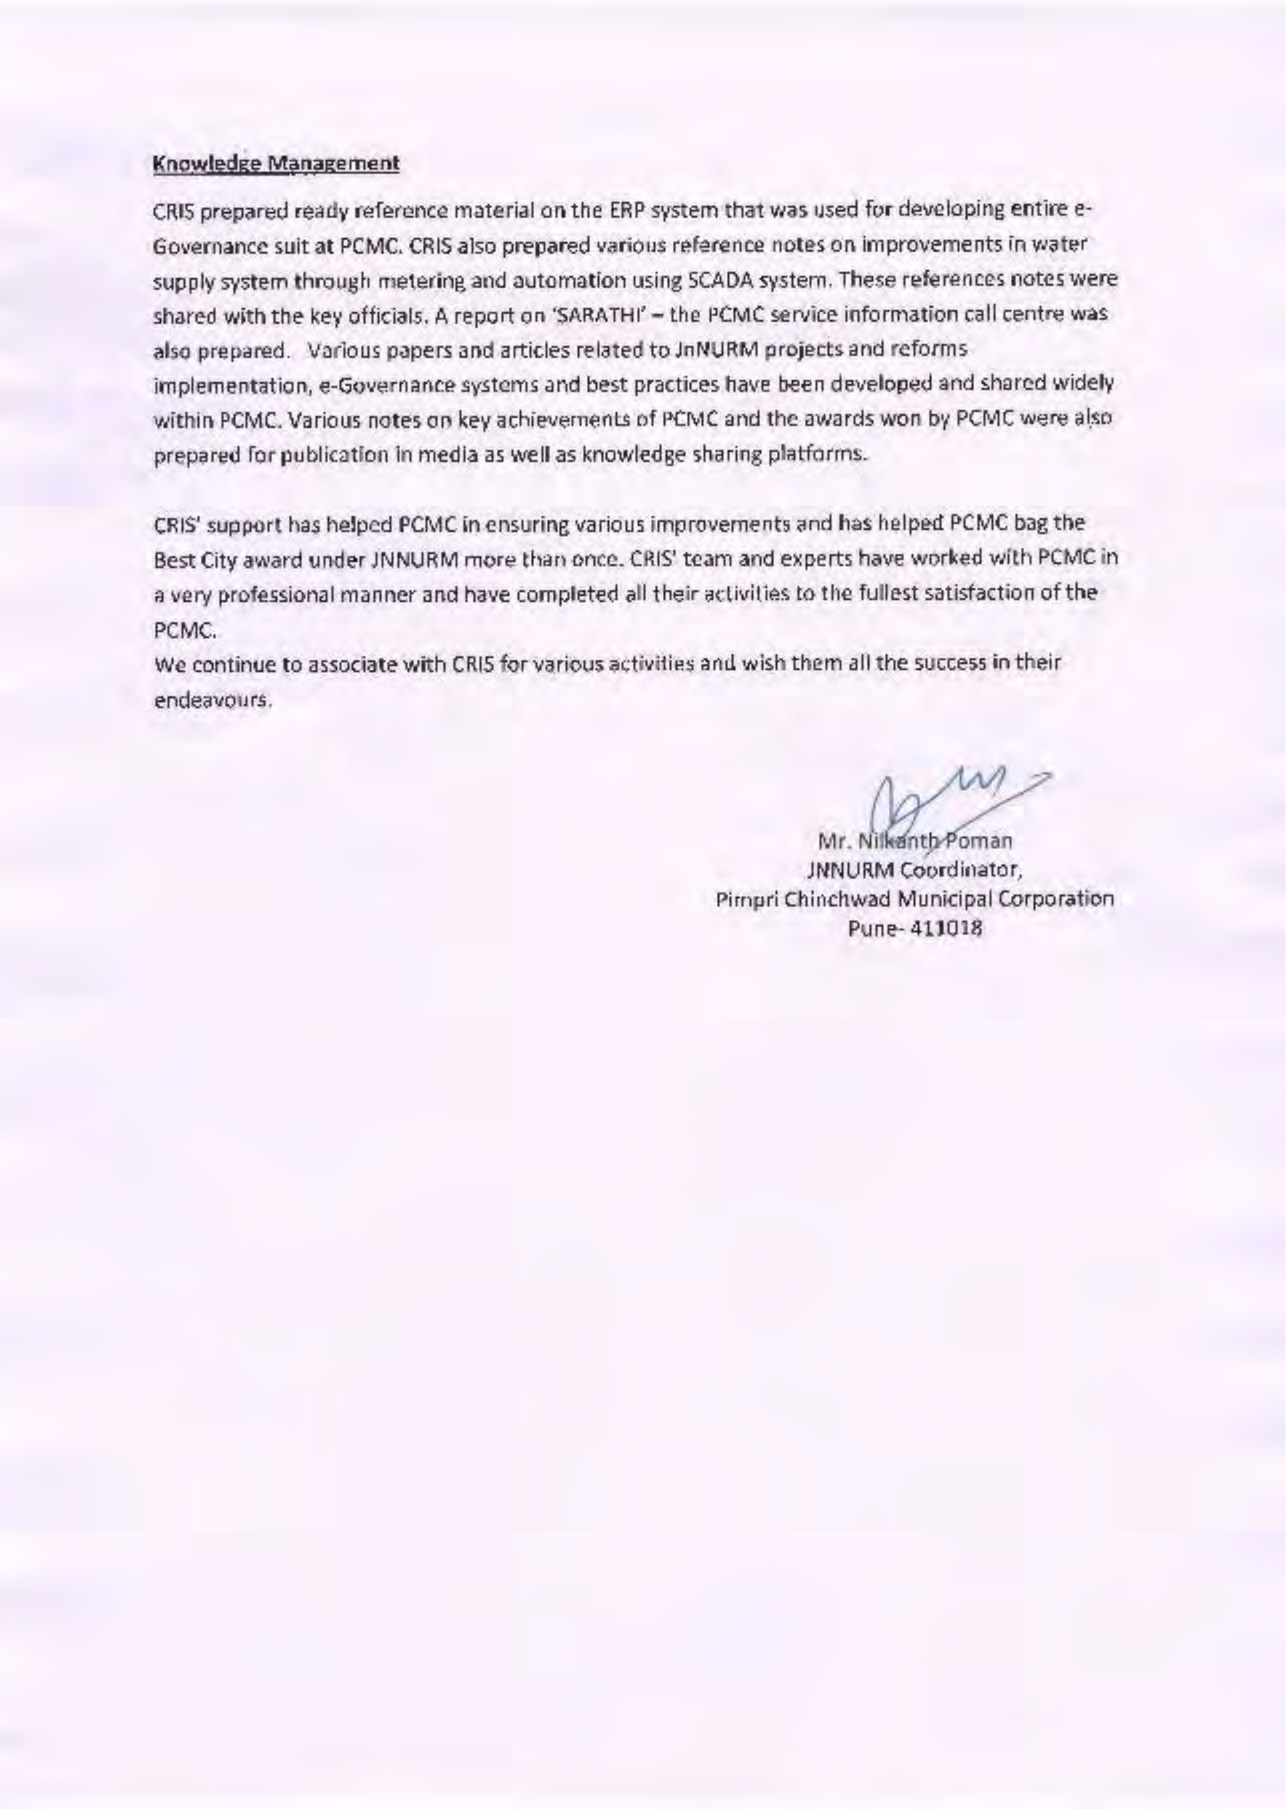
As part of the Administrative reform implementation and to enhance effectiveness of project and reform implementation, CRIS undertook a Training Needs Assessment study of all major departments. Based on the study, a training calendar and capacity building plan was prepared for mid-level, senior level and Head of Department level staff.

Training programs for capacity development

CRIS undertook various training programmes for capacity building. One of the core areas was accounting budgetary and financial reporting. CRIS provided handholding support and has also conducted various training workshops for PCMC officials in development and implementation of double entry accounting system and functional budget. CRIS also assisted PCMC in change management during the shift from cash based to accrual based accounting practice.

Support for the procurement of soft and hard infrastructure and equipment's

CRIS has provided procurement support for various activities such as for selection of agencies/operator for preparation of Detailed Project Report, for development, procurement, installation & maintenance of IT infrastructure, managing OPD services in 750 bedded YCM hospital, procurement of services for IT asset operation and maintenance, procurement of hardware for establishing networking in of municipal offices, procurement of networking services (WAN) for connecting municipal offices in Pimpri Chinchwad.



Knowledge Management

CRIS prepared ready reference material on the ERP system that was used for developing entire e-Governance suit at PCMC. CRIS also prepared various reference notes on improvements in water supply system through metering and automation using SCADA system. These references notes were shared with the key officials. A report on 'SARATHI' – the PCMC service information call centre was also prepared. Various papers and articles related to JnNURM projects and reforms implementation, e-Governance systems and best practices have been developed and shared widely within PCMC. Various notes on key achievements of PCMC and the awards won by PCMC were also prepared for publication in media as well as knowledge sharing platforms.

CRIS' support has helped PCMC in ensuring various improvements and has helped PCMC bag the Best City award under JNNURM more than once. CRIS' team and experts have worked with PCMC in a very professional manner and have completed all their activities to the fullest satisfaction of the PCMC.
We continue to associate with CRIS for various activities and wish them all the success in their endeavours.

Narrative Description of Project:

Despite concerted efforts by the National and State Governments to ensure that the development of new infrastructure in the larger cities of historical importance would remain reasonably commensurate with population growth, the accelerated growth of urban areas has far outpaced the ability of the state and municipal governments to meet local needs. Thus, infrastructure services—particularly in the areas of potable water supplies, waste water management, drainage and solid waste, Road improvement, Slum improvement & heritage —have lagged far behind the requirements of large urban cities with their increasing populations and population densities. In an effort to ameliorate problems associated with insufficient infrastructure, and the negative health consequences which ensue from such inadequacies the State of Rajasthan, in collaboration with and with support from the Asian Development Bank, is currently implementing the comprehensive Rajasthan Urban sector Development & Investment Project (RUSDIP), which will help meet critical infrastructure construction and rehabilitation needs in fifteen major urban areas, including-Alwar, Bharatpur, Dholpur, Karauli, SawaiMadhopur, Bundi, Baran-chabra, Jhalawar-Jhalarapatan, Chittourgarh, Rajsamand, Nagaur, Churu, Sikar, Jaiselmer, Barmer.

Though conditions vary from area to area, the State of Rajasthan is, in general, arid and is striving to provide adequate supplies of water to a rapidly growing urban population. Supplies of ground water, which are replaced only sporadically by monsoons, are inconsistent and water shortages recur perennially. Further, augmentation of the water supplies which is planned under the RUSDIP will precipitate a dramatic growth in the quantity of wastewater for which treatment facilities are inadequate.

An important feature of RUSDIP is concurrent Project Performance Monitoring System (PPMS) of various packages as they are planned and implemented. IDCG was commissioned to undertake this task. PPMS will be used as the principal tool to ensure that the work at site of various packages in the Project are performed effectively & timely conceived with specific benefits accruing to the target groups, leading to realization of global objectives of the RUSDIP.

Narrative Description of Project:
Despite concerted efforts by the National and State Governments to ensure that the development of new infrastructure in the larger cities of historical importance would remain reasonably commensurate with population growth, the accelerated growth of urban areas has far outpaced the ability of the state and municipal governments to meet local needs. Thus, infrastructure services—particularly in the areas of potable water supplies, waste water management, drainage and solid waste, Road improvement, Slum improvement & heritage —have lagged far behind the requirements of large urban cities with their increasing populations and population densities. In an effort to ameliorate problems associated with insufficient infrastructure, and the negative health consequences which ensue from such inadequacies the State of Rajasthan, in collaboration with and with support from the Asian Development Bank, is currently implementing the comprehensive Rajasthan Urban sector Development & Investment Project (RUSDIP), which will help meet critical infrastructure construction and rehabilitation needs in fifteen major urban areas, including- Alwar, Bharatpur, Dholpur, Karauli, SawaiMadhopur, Bundi, Baran-chabra, Jhalawar-Jhalarapatan, Chittourgarh, Rajsamand, Nagaur, Churu, Sikar, Jaiselmer, Barmer.

Though conditions vary from area to area, the State of Rajasthan is, in general, arid and is striving to provide adequate supplies of water to a rapidly growing urban population. Supplies of ground water, which are replaced only sporadically by monsoons, are inconsistent and water shortages recur perennially. Further, augmentation of the water supplies which is planned under the RUSDIP will precipitate a dramatic growth in the quantity of wastewater for which treatment facilities are inadequate.

An important feature of RUSDIP is concurrent Project Performance Monitoring System (PPMS) of various packages as they are planned and implemented. IDCG was commissioned to undertake this task. PPMS will be used as the principal tool to ensure that the work at site of various packages in the Project are performed effectively & timely conceived with specific benefits accruing to the target groups, leading to realization of global objectives of the RUSDIP.

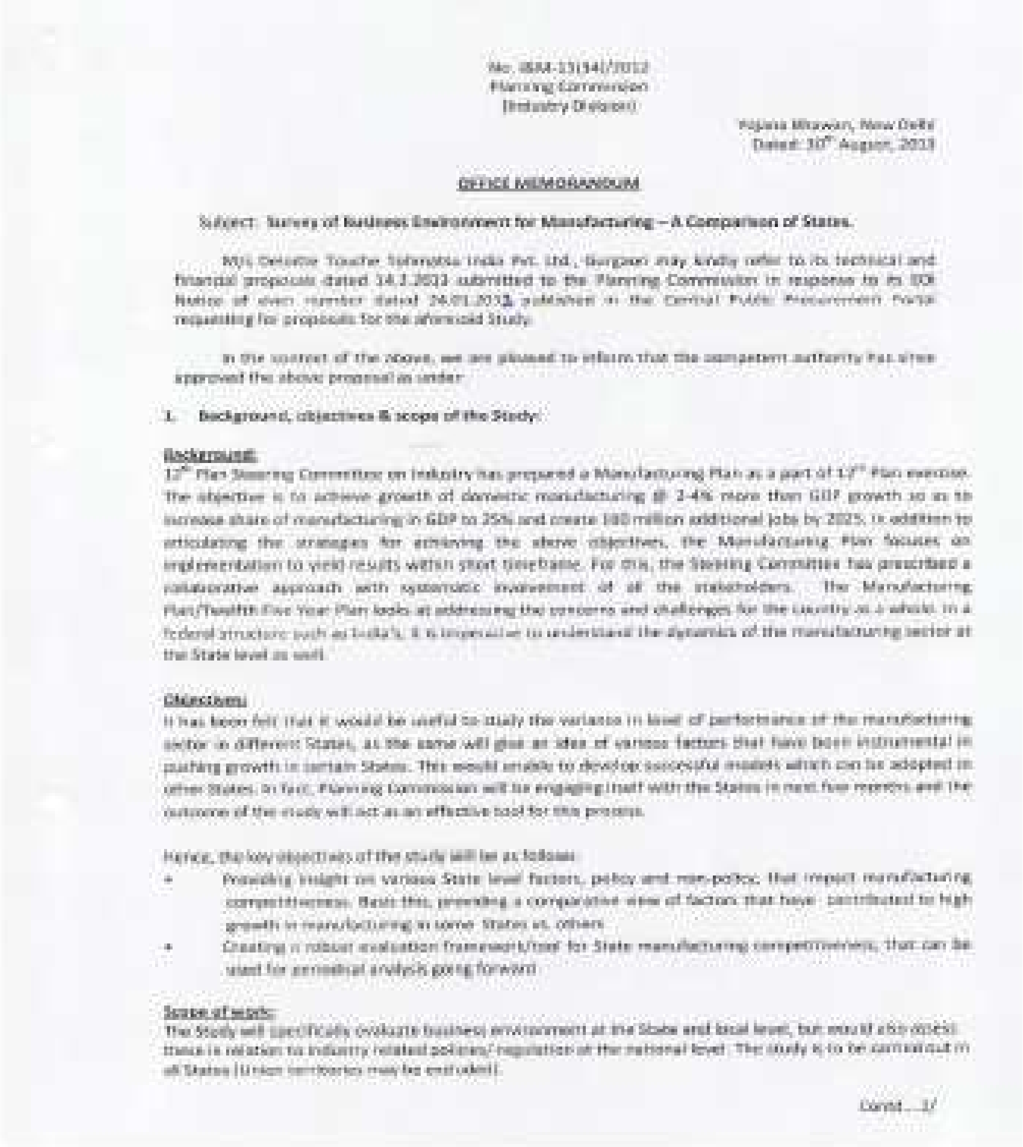
5.1: Survey of Business Environment for Manufacturing – A Comparison of Indian States



No. I&M-13(34)/2012
Planning Commission
(Industry Division)

Yojana Bhawan, New Delhi
Dated: 30th August, 2013

OFFICE MEMORANDUM

Subject: Survey of Business Environment for Manufacturing – A Comparison of States.

M/s Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu India Pvt. Ltd., Gurgaon may kindly refer to its technical and financial proposals dated 14.3.2013 submitted to the Planning Commission in response to its EOI Notice of even number dated 24.01.2013 published in the Central Public Procurement Portal requesting for proposals for the aforesaid Study.

In the context of the above, we are pleased to inform that the competent authority has since approved the above proposal as under:

1. Background, objectives & scope of the Study:

Background:
12th Plan Steering Committee on Industry has prepared a Manufacturing Plan as a part of 12th Plan exercise. The objective is to achieve growth of domestic manufacturing @ 2-4% more than GDP growth so as to increase share of manufacturing in GDP to 25% and create 100 million additional jobs by 2025. In addition to articulating the strategies for achieving the above objectives, the Manufacturing Plan focuses on implementation to yield results within short timeframe. For this, the Steering Committee has prescribed a collaborative approach with systematic involvement of all the stakeholders. The Manufacturing Plan/Twelfth Five Year Plan looks at addressing the concerns and challenges for the country as a whole. In a federal structure such as India's, it is imperative to understand the dynamics of the manufacturing sector at the State level as well.

Objectives:
It has been felt that it would be useful to study the variance in level of performance of the manufacturing sector in different States, as the same will give an idea of various factors that have been instrumental in pushing growth in certain States. This would enable to develop successful models which can be adopted in other States. In fact, Planning Commission will be engaging itself with the States in next few months and the outcome of the study will act as an effective tool for this process.

Hence, the key objectives of the study will be as follows:

- Providing insight on various State level factors, policy and non-policy, that impact manufacturing competitiveness. Basis this, providing a comparative view of factors that have contributed to high growth in manufacturing in some States vs. others.
- Creating a robust evaluation framework/tool for State manufacturing competitiveness, that can be used for periodical analysis going forward.

Scope of work:
The Study will specifically evaluate business environment at the State and local level, but would also assess these in relation to industry related policies/ regulation at the national level. The study is to be carried out in all States (Union territories may be excluded).

Contd....2/

2. Deliverables of the Study:

A. Major Deliverables from this exercise would be:

(i) To provide a comparative analysis of the business enabling environment and performance of manufacturing sector in the states.

(ii) To identify the enabling and disabling factors/ regulations/ policies responsible for growth of manufacturing sectors or affecting manufacturing competitiveness in states. A comparison of industrial policies of the States should be included.

(iii) To shortlist innovative Policies/ Schemes and Good Practices and their contribution in shaping business enabling environment in the states with high growth of manufacturing sector.

(iv) To classify states in different stages of development in the manufacturing sector and to suggest a robust strategy plan to improve their manufacturing competitiveness.

(v) To suggest ways in which the business regulatory framework could be streamlined to yield quicker results.

(vi) To develop a policy tool/ evaluation framework for manufacturing competitiveness to be used for periodical analysis in future.

B. The study is expected to rely on both secondary and primary modes of research.

i) Secondary Research – Comprehensive review of the industrial policies of the States and existing studies on understanding the underlying levers and economic indicators of manufacturing competitiveness. The outcome of the secondary research will be a framework of analysis that will outline the key pillars of manufacturing competitiveness and will thereby underpin the context of the primary research i.e. design of the questionnaire(s).

ii) Primary Research – will be conducted across all States. Sample of manufacturing firms that will be selected for the same should be representative and identified scientifically, i.e. cover large & small, organized & unorganized sectors etc. Besides industry, the study would benefit from the inputs of government officials and policy makers.

3. Timeframe: The assignment shall be for a period of three months. Draft inputs shall be made available from time to time as per requirement and shall be finalized after discussions with the Planning Commission. The Final Report has to be made available to Planning Commission within 5 Months from date of acceptance of the offer. Expert services, in respect of the activities under item 1 above would however be continued to be provided by M/s Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu India Pvt. Ltd. till acceptance of the Report by the Planning Commission.

TERMS OF REFERENCE

Contract	S18916
Project	TA - 4993 (IND) : Mainstreaming PPP at Central Line Ministries of GOI
Expertise	Market Assessment Technical Consultant
Source	Local	Category	Firm

Objective/Purpose of the Assignment:
The objective is to conduct the following market assessments:

- across selected sample areas to understand the demographic profile of the region, fee paying capacity, interest to switch-over to a new school in the VI - XII standard, elasticity of demand for the fees being paid and other factors that could impact revenue estimates in schools in the region. The initial market assessment sample size is proposed to be conducted for 10 schools, one in each district of the Ajmer and Udaipur divisions. Each of these schools will be established where no government senior secondary school exists and is expected to cater to the needs of 5 villages/habitations. The two divisions have a total of 10 districts, viz.,
- Ajmer: Nagaur, Ajmer, Tonk, Bhilwara
- Udaipur: Udaipur, Rajsamand, Chittorgarh,Banswara,Dungarpur ,Pratapgarh

- the market potential for imaging services in health diagnostic centers in Kotdwar and Pithoragarh, actual expenses made for imaging services at other locations in & outside the state, unmet demand due to availability; & cost and paying capacity.

Scope of Work:
ADB is supporting the Government of India (GOI) in mainstreaming public-private partnerships (PPPs) at selected state governments through a technical assistance (TA) project.

The state Government of Rajasthan (GOR) has identified a proposed PPP education project (developing 165 senior secondary schools across 33 districts with per school capacity of about 500 students and a fifty percent allocation of capacity for government voucher fee sponsored students) with the objectives of:
- expanding infrastructure for secondary school education within the rural areas;
- improving quality of education delivery through participation of private sector;
- introducing private sector efficiencies in operating and managing schools.

This structuring requires a number of inputs from skilled professional advisors of which financial and commercial advisors have already assisted in initial structuring of the project. The structure now requires inputs on end user affordability levels and willingness through a market assessment study, for which a consultant is being engaged under this TOR.

ADB and the state Government of Uttarakhand (GoU) also envisage establishing two diagnostic centres on a PPP basis in the state. This is in line with the recommendations of the Eleventh Finance Commission to establish regional diagnostic centres to provide services in the district in which they are located, as well as, adjoining districts falling under the same division.

While many diagnostic services are available at both public and private hospitals in all districts, imaging services are limited. Thus, these two diagnostic centres proposed to be established in Kotdwar and Pithoragarh will be equipped with imaging equipment.

The market assessment will obtain data covering the following aspects:
- Number of recommendations for imaging exposures in the last 12-18 months
- Profile of patients not accessing services and reasons thereof
- Profile of patients accessing imaging services and expenses made including on transport, board & lodge and loss of earnings of self/companion (if any)
- Capacity to pay for imaging services, if available locally or in close vicinity

The market assessment will be conducted at 9 locations:
- Kotdwar and two more combined hospital locations (still to be identified)
- Pithoragarh, Dharchula and Berinag or Gangolihat
- Champawat, Tanakpur and Lohaghat

TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR CONSULTANCY TO IMPLEMENT ALL ASPECTS OF ENDLINE SURVEY FOR BANKING ON CHANGE
[India]

Purpose of the Consultancy
This Terms of Reference is for a Consultant to develop and implement all aspects of the endline survey of selected beneficiaries from the Banking on Change programme, during the period 2013-2015 in India . This endline survey will include those who were surveyed as part of the baseline, from both groups carried over from the first phase of the project (2009-2012) and youth beneficiaries who joined in the current phase. The endline survey will constitute a key input into the impact analysis of Barclays/CARE UK/ PLAN UK's Banking on Change initiative. The selected consultant will work under the direct supervision of the India and indirectly the global Banking on Change Programme Management and Evaluation Team.

Banking on Change
Banking on Change, a partnership between Barclays, CARE UK and Plan UK was established in 2009. Originally it set out to deliver a savings-led microfinance programme with the aim of improving the financial inclusion of people in 11 countries across Africa, Asia and South America. Using a savings led microfinance methodology, Banking on Change mobilised individuals into savings groups so they could save regularly, and in turn borrow small amounts at a fair rate of interest agreed by group members.

In phase 1, Banking on Change established over 21,000 new groups who have accrued over $6.5m in savings and loaned out over $5m. Nearly 500 groups have been formally linked to group accounts in branches of Barclays in Uganda, Ghana, Tanzania or Kenya.

Barclays renewed its commitment to the partnership through an additional three year investment in a second phase of Banking on Change (2013-2015). In phase 2 the partnership has used the same savings led microfinance methodology established in phase 1 as a springboard for implementing a more focused, in-depth, programme targeted at young people in seven countries (Egypt, Ghana, India, Kenya, Tanzania, Uganda and Zambia). The specific aims are:

- Support young people in setting up 10,000 youth savings groups.
- To provide an expanded range of in-depth financial literacy, employability and entrepreneurship skills training to over 330,000 beneficiaries, of whom 75% will be under 35.
- To support the establishment of around 41,000 income-generating activities and small businesses that will be sustained over the course of the programme.
- To link over one-third of Banking on Change savings groups in Africa (approx 5,000) to Formal Financial Institutions, including Barclays. A proportion of individual group members will also be linked to personal bank accounts.

Assignment name: Pilot assessment of urban transport governance in Karnataka with the use of the Transport Governance Indicator Assessment Toolkit	Value of the contract (in current INR): 3,85,000

Narrative description of Project:

We conducted a pilot assessment of urban transport governance in Bengaluru and Mysuru, with elaborate institutional arrangements for urban transport. The aim was to develop a framework for assessing governance and decision-making in the urban transport sector. For the assessment, we used the Transport Governance Indicator Assessment Toolkit developed by the WRI which consists of 39 indicators in 6 different functional categories—policy, planning, standards, execution, budgeting, and regulation. The methodology of the study was to assess the indicators by choosing an organization for each functional category in each of the selected cities, and was based on analysis of documents, and discussions with relevant officials in the selected cities. The final analysis and scoring on each indicator was based on the guidance assessment provided by the WRI, and our own judgement.

Each indicator in our assessment broadly relates to one of the aspects of governance, namely Transparency (T), Accountability (A), Participation (P) and Capacity (C)-TAP-C for both government and civil society. With respect to policy, the indicators are the mandate and capacity of the policy making body, its effective functioning, transparency and public participation in its functioning. In planning, the same indicators are used, but in addition, legislative review of plans and the role of consultants/advisory groups, are included. With respect to standards, the mandate, functioning and enforcement are assessed. In execution, the functioning of the executive authority, staffing policies, performance-based incentives, reporting, project selection and specification, contracting process and execution, audit, transparency during execution, post-implementation review and environmental and social impact assessment of projects, are assessed. In budgeting, the elements assessed are as follows: budget process, audit, public inputs and legislative review. With respect to regulation, the autonomy and mandate, neutrality of the regulatory authority, its tariff philosophy, and performance reporting were assessed.

We find based on our assessments that Mysuru's urban transport governance is much more transparent, accountable, participatory than the counterparts in Bengaluru. Nonetheless, accountability of institutions is better than accountability of the agencies to the public in both the cities. While capacity is the only dimension on which all agencies rank highly in Bengaluru, Mysuru has some limitations on its capacity, due to its size and resources. Another reason which explains Mysuru's better ranking with respect to the TAP-C indicators when compared with Bengaluru is that in Mysuru, parastatal entities such as KSRTC are executing agencies, whereas in Bengaluru, BMTC is an independent, corporatized entity. A caveat of the study is that if other cities are examined, these findings could be different, if not entirely new.

Narrative description of Project:

The project aims to improve the governance of NBA. The general objectives of the project are to increase the voice of consumers in NBA implementation and monitoring sanitation debate in 6 districts of Orissa (a poor-performing state with respect to the NBA) and 6 districts of Tamil Nadu (a well-performing state with respect to the NBA). Hence the demand-side objectives of the research are to raise awareness on the NBA in 6% and 2% respectively of study area population in each of the 2 states—Orissa and Tamil Nadu. On the supply side, the project intends to heighten the accountability of service providers to meet NBA targets and associated obligations in 6 districts each of Orissa and 6 districts of Tamil Nadu, and strengthen the responsiveness of the service providers by reducing time taken to release funds.

The above-mentioned objectives are proposed to be accomplished through national policy analysis and review of secondary data, interviews and in-depth discussions with officials in the selected states, citizen report cards (CRCs) to capture the voices of consumers with respect to the NBA, followed up with the implementation of a CRC-plus exercise of fund and function flow in the selected states with respect to relevant components of NBA funds. The above methods will be combined with community score cards and focus group discussions with citizens, stakeholders such as public officials, private service providers and other actors in the supply chain of providing sanitation infrastructure. Given that we propose to examine both well-performing and poor-performing districts in the selected states, we expect that in-depth case studies would be prepared on aspects of the programme or experience of the users, as a complement to the survey data. Further, we propose to have advocacy workshops to disseminate sharing, learning and ongoing monitoring of the program to ensure the project's sustainability beyond the project period.

We will be partnering in the above project with the sister organization of PAC, the Public Affairs Foundation (PAF), which has had the opportunity to experiment with CRCs repeatedly in various countries across the globe and has nearly perfected the art of CRCs. Besides, we are partnering with WaterAid who have been domain experts in the water and sanitation sector. Hence their substantive knowledge of the sector and their networks will be tapped for roll out of the project and its continued monitoring.

The outcomes we expect from the above project are to increase the number of applications for toilet construction, which would result in a toilet, in each of the 2 states—Orissa and Tamil Nadu, from a demand side. From a supply-side perspective, the outcome we expect from the project is to augment the supply of funds – to assess, and if possible, to reduce the actual time taken for the central share to reach the states, districts and villages, and the amount released vis-à-vis the claims.

The indicators used to measure the above outcomes from a demand side perspective would be:

- to ensure that X communities (covered under the CSCs) would receive regular reports on project status;
- to assess the timeliness of the construction of toilets;
- to understand the design of the toilet which reflects on its ease of use and maintenance; and
- the proximity of the customer's location to a sanitary mart for procurement of toilet accessories.

From a supply-side perspective, the indicators would be:

- to assess time taken by state to release NBA funds to the district;
- time taken by the district to release NBA funds to the toilet user / Panchayati Raj Institution (PRI) / implementing agency, and
  - funds utilized as a proportion of what was released on various components of the program.

Dear Mr. Raghavan:

The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation (the "Foundation") is pleased to award Public Affairs Centre ("PAC") a grant in the amount of $1,792,441.00 for the period beginning on the date you sign this agreement (the "Start Date") to June 30, 2016 (the "Grant Period"). This agreement (the "Grant Agreement") contains the terms and conditions of this grant.

Charitable Purpose of the Grant. The charitable purpose of this grant is to improve governance and accountability of the Nirmal Bharat Abhiyan, a sanitation campaign in India, by including citizen voices, as described in your proposal (the "Proposal") and budget (the "Budget") dated May 22, 2013 (together, the "Project").

Tax Status. PAC confirms that under the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the "Code") it is not an organization described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Code. You agree to advise us immediately if there is any change in your organization's tax status during the Grant Period.

Use of Grant Funds. Foundation grant funds, and any income earned on those funds, may not be spent:

Segregation of Grant Funds. Grant funds must be maintained in a separate account dedicated to the Project. This account must be a physically separated bank account.

Investment of Grant Funds. Grant funds must be invested in highly liquid investments (such as interest-bearing bank accounts) with the primary objective of preservation of principal so that the grant funds are available for the Project. The Foundation requires you to report the amount of any interest or

29th Feb, 2016

Dear Kala Sridhar,

On behalf of the Azim Premji University, I am pleased to inform you that we are awarding your project “The Story Of An Indian Metropolis Revisited”, bearing ID no. D012, with a grant of Rs. 19.573 lakh, payable over 2 years with start and end dates of April 1st, 2016 and March 31st, 2018 respectively.

As detailed in your proposal, we expect that your project will result in high quality academic research. We expect that datasets and related code developed through an APU grant will be made available (unless proprietary) as an open source resource, with attribution, to the broader social science research community.

We anticipate that your research will be particularly useful since it addresses a current void in the understanding of the landscape.

All questions regarding your grant should be directed to this e-mail address and must quote the ID number. We will be in touch with you in the next two or three weeks regarding the administration of your grant.

We anticipate publically announcing our slate of grantees in early April. Our Communications Office will be in touch with you to discuss publicizing your APF award. Until that time, we ask that you do not make any public announcements regarding your grant.

We are happy that you will be part of our cohort of inaugural grantees, and we look forward to working with you.

The Foundation will disburse grant funds only after receiving a copy of your registration with the Ministry of Home Affairs under the Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act ("FCRA"), 1976, or written evidence that you are exempt from such registration requirements. You may not incur any expenses for the Project until you have provided the Foundation with a copy of your FCRA registration or evidence of exemption, and the Foundation has acknowledged receipt in writing. You are not permitted to use grant funds to pay or reimburse any expenses you incur prior to fulfilling this requirement. You agree to advise us immediately if there is any change in your FCRA registration during the Grant Period.

Subgrants and Subcontracts. You have the exclusive right to select subgrantees and subcontractors for the Project. You may state that Public Affairs Centre is the Foundation's grantee and that you are a subgrantee or subcontractor of Public Affairs Centre for the Project."

If you make subgrants using Foundation grant funds to an organization that is not a U.S. public charity or a government agency or instrumentality, you agree to comply with procedures known as "expenditure responsibility" for each subgrant. These procedures are in Appendix B to this Grant Agreement. These procedures are intended to supplement the other due diligence and subgrant procedures that your organization may use. It is with the intention of addressing these problems that the UPOR has been initiated in Karnataka. It is expected to promote efficiency in service delivery and enable citizen interface with the digital management of land records throughout the state. Our study identified the issues at the field level across the four cities and provided suggestions for better implementation.

Narrative description of Project: For collecting data at household level of 3 states i.e., Delhi, Madhya Pradesh and Karnataka for a stake holder assessment of the implementation of the Right to Public Service (RTPS) Act in India. The IMRB project team undertook fine-tuning the questionnaires and oversaw the field team for carrying out fieldwork in a timely manner and providing us with the data base. This paper assesses performance of RTPS Acts based on primary surveys fielded in the states of Delhi, Madhya Pradesh (MP) and Karnataka. The three states were selected because of their regional differences and implementation practices. Each of these states has guaranteed citizens time-bound and standardized service delivery–in one form or another–on paper. Have these states been able to deliver in practice?

Has their de jure intention to improve service delivery accompanied by a de facto improvements in outcomes? While establishing causation is beyond the scope of our current study, the following sections draw on primary survey data, focus group discussions, and interviews with officials, and review of implementation guidelines to answer these questions through benchmarking service delivery standards and analyzing the extent to which the states were successful in satisfactorily delivering services, and documenting their experiences. The study examined the preparatory activities for implementation undertaken by the service providers and key decision makers involved, user awareness of their rights, the ease of navigating the application process, the use of middlemen in completing this process, the issue of printed receipts as acknowledgement, compliance by providers with the stipulated timelines, and user satisfaction with the entire process.

Dear Madam,

A meeting of the Procurement Committee of Capacity Building for Urban Development (CBUD) Project for shortlisting the Expression of Interest (EOIs) for above mentioned assignment for "Assessment of Liveability in Selected Cites" (STEP reference number IN-MoUD-14653-CS-QCBS) was held on 2nd June, 2017.

The Request for Expression of Interest (EOI "Assessment of Liveability in Selected Cites" was invited from eligible consultants. The EOI was uploaded on e-procurement website of the Ministry on 9th May, 2017 and was also published in the Newspapers. The last date of receipt of EOI was 30th May. EOIs were opened on 31st May, 2017. The applications as received are attached

After detailed discussion, the committee derived the detailed evaluation criteria. The EOIs were evaluated based on this detailed criteria and as per Procurement Guidelines of CBUD and in accordance with the Quality Cost Based Selection method set out in the World Bank's Guidelines: Selection and Employment of Consultants by World Bank Borrowers (May 2011).

As per World Bank procurement guidelines a panel of 6 firms needs to be shortlisted, but in this case after evaluation the following 3 firms were found to be qualified. Hence the committee recommends that the minutes of the meeting, shortlisting 3 firms, may be forwarded to the World Bank for their consideration.

Sl. No	Lead Firm	Consortium Partner	Primary Eligibility	Technical Score (max. 100)
1	M/s CRISIL Risk and Infrastructure Solutions Limited	Hansa Research Group	Lead partner registered as Company, hence eligible	100

Dear Mr Kumar,

Thank you for your email dated June 2 regarding the livability index.

We observe that only 3 firms have been shortlisted for the Liveability Index assessment although a lot many had submitted EOI. You may revisit the eligibility criteria and re-issue the EOI after formal/informal market assessment. Kindly give at least 14 days time for submission of EOI. The process must be done through STEP so that REOI is published on UNDB. You may also make efforts for increasing competition and to get a shortlist of 6 qualified firms.

Best ,
Vasudha Thawakar
